SEA HAWKS HAVE FUN WHILE THEY LEARN

Students came back to school five minutes earlier and didn't leave until 2:48.

Sports and extra-curricular classes survived.

Five days were added to the end of the school year.

Redondo Beach voters passed proposition BB by two votes. This meant that part of Aviation that included the auditorium and the recreational facilities couldn't be torn down. This delayed the leasing of Aviation, along with the extra income that would have come in, which included a raise for the teachers.

Even though we didn't always feel like being here, we came to learn. Remember, "My part is to learn." Studying, however, wasn't the only thing we did. Along with regular school work and jobs, sports and other extra-curricular activities seemed to take up all of our time; but somehow we managed.

Assemblies, shortened schedules and holidays helped to break the monotony of everyday life.

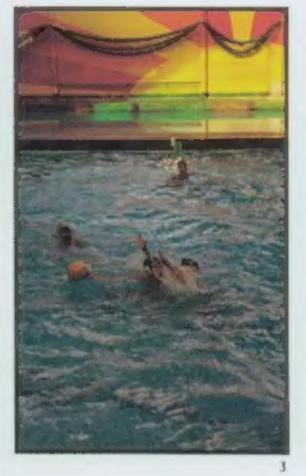

Others, however, were too busy putting on the productions that everyone else enjoyed.

But not all of our time was spent at school. We had places to go (movies, amusement parks) and people to see (Bruce Springsteen, the Jacksons, etc.).

And as different as we all were, and as differently as we all spoke, one word seemed to be understood by all-Redondo.

Sea Hawk Spirit; Eighty Years Strong

Happy anniversary, Redondo! Not everyone was aware of it, but this was your eightieth year.

You've grown to become the third largest campus in the country, but not without struggle. You lost students in wars.

You've seen fifteen presidents-from Roosevelt to Reagan. You've seen both Depression and Recession.

You saw men in space, men on the moon, and now, even women in space.

Technology has improved from the emergence of television to the domestication of computers.

You've tried to keep up with technology to educate thousands of students.

These past four years, however, haven't been easy. In 1982 you fought along with past, present and even future students to stay open. Month and several school board meeting later, Aviation was declared closed Moans of disbelief and sighs of relief from then other students filled the auditorium. Few could believe that school had actually been closed Boundaries were drawn and seemed to be accepted.

The following year brought som tension, but it also brought strength New clubs were formed and athletic also received added strength.

Most recently, your sports and other activities were threatened, but we returned for another year.

Redondo, here's to at least eight more!

WHILE YOU WERE GONE.

From July 28 to August 12, Los Angeles hosted a party and invited the world.

Not all countries decided to come, but those that did were welcome.

The torch relay carried with it a wave of patriotism that many had never experienced before. Crowds lined up along the route waving flags ranging in size from square inches to square feet. The southland looked like an extension of Disneyland, with its "festive federalism". Banners of magenta, vermillion, violet and aqualined the streets.

The opening ceremonies caused a surge in ticket sales. Souvenirs that weren't selling before were selling out in stores, with Sam the Olympic Eagle as mascot. (Sammy Seahawk's cousin?)

Skeptics argued that a privately-supported Olympics wouldn't work, especially in L.A. But when July 28 came, the freeways were practically empty. L.A. experienced its first day in a long time without a single bank robbery. Visitors expecting their first glimpse of smog still didn't know what it was when they left.

The games themselves brought unexpected victories and heartbreaks. After the torch was put out, there was a groan from the crowd who didn't want it to end. The twenty-third olympiad was a success

Clubs Promote School Pride

The incredible number of clubs and organizations open to students on campus has had a tremendous effect on a student's school involvement.

Most of these clubs/organizations were started by people who had a keen Interest in the kind of activity their club specializes in. Some examples included Ski Club, Math Club, Opus, The Time Adventurer's Guild, French Club, and the Computer Club.

Some of the other organizations are school institutions, such as High Tide, Pilot, Band, Dance Drill, Pep Squad, and ASB.

But no matter what club/organization a student was involved in during the '84-'85 school year, these groups benefit the students in many ways:

Colleges look at the extent of one's school involvement as well as one's grades; one can make a lot of good friends; one can learn responsibility and have a good time doing it; and one can have one's talents appreciated, as David Sussin, junior, Art Editor of Opus, pointed out, "It's a good way to get your work noticed!"

Student Life—Student 'Fun' Time!

By Ursula Wiljanen

What did RUHS students do in their free time? Time other than time spent in class, or studying, or working a steady job?

The activities in which students participated in their own free time is categorized as student life. Much student life revolved around school. Whether It was sports events, dances, carnivals, or musicals, there were always plenty of students attending those major school events.

Pearl Piatt, sophomore, is an example of students who actually preferred school activities. "I love to go to football games with the gang! We all just get together and be rowdy!" she exclaimed.

Other students, however, felt a need to get away from the pressures of school.

"After a whole week of school, I need to go out and away from it — do something different," related Michael Hoffman, sophomore.

Some of the most popular non-school related activities included parties, dancing, eating out, going to movies, or just 'going cruising' in a friend's car.

- 1. CROSS COUNTRY-HERE?!?-Nicole H'Orvath, sophomore, checks out one of the ASB's familiar announcements of sports events.
- 2. MY NIGHT OUT-Kym Hainsworth, senior, enjoys a relaxing dinner at Frères Taix restaurant in Hollywood.
- RE-LIVING BEAT STREET-Break dancing continues to draw crowds both during lunchtime on campus and at after game dances.
- 4 THE LATEST THING-Students sport some of the many new fads that have appeared on campus this year.
- 5. A-P-P-L-E-Computer Club members support their club and addiction by selling computer print-outs at the Red and White Carnival, Computer mania has gained momentum among high school students this year.

6. ALL TEN PINS?!?-Asa Traskelin, senior, goes for a strike at South Bay Bowling Center.

ON OUR WAY-Buses play a vital part in transporting students not only to school but also to major school events and activities.

Pilot Strives For Better Book

By Noel Graves

"The Pilot is the most important memory a student can buy because it illustrates an entire year of fun and learning between its pages," stated Ursula Wiljanen, Ass't Editor.

Because there was no adviser during the summer, the staff got off to a slow start in planning the publication. Usually work is begun in May or June and continues through the summer, but a shift of 3 advisers in 3 years created minor turmoil in the program.

Besides a new adviser, other changes the Pilot undertook included 16 more pages than the previous year, a raise in advertising revenue and a presale that far exceeded any previous year at RUHS.

"I wanted this Pilot to really stand out and not be as traditional as others," remarked Lucy Villa, Editor.

The Pilot's new adviser, Ms. Susan DeWitz gave much support to the staff members in helping make the best publication possible.

Enthusiastically explained DeWitz, "I love being at Redondo High School! Getting to work with groups of students who are in classes because they want to be there, like the Pilot, is gratifying. Consequently, we all work harder and give more of ourselves to projects. The energy level is much higher, both for the students and for me."

Future ideas for the 1985-86 year-book include the increase in sales of advertisements to include more color pages and number of pages in the book. Another goal is to get every person in the school in the yearbook, one way or another.

Every year the Pilot staff strives to make each yearbook even better than the years preceding. With this goal, the 1984-85 Pilot staff gave all of their efforts to make the best Pilot ever.

ASB Keeps Student Body Happy

By Jeff Baker

The student council of this year was under the great leadership of Mike Dillon, president, and Mr. J.T. Ball, adviser. The council got off to a great start by going to CASC teadership camp In Santa Barbara, in order to get the year rolling. With this enthusiasm Dillon was able to unite his council and have a great year. He did a terrific job hosting assemblies, presiding over council meetings, and keeping up-to-date on all of the decisions being made by the administration. Karen Brogan, Commissioner of Calendar, did an excellent Job of filling in for Dillon in his absence as well as putting together the student activities calendar.

Renee Kantor, Commissioner of Spirit, spared no expense in getting RUHS spirited with her unique rallies and activities, she hyped up the whole student body. Shelley Dobler, in her second year as Commissioner of Finance, did an outstanding job of handling the student body's money. Lisa Schipper, Commissioner of Entertainment, did a fine job keeping RUHS entertained. Interviewing bands, disc jockeys and choosing speakers for assemblies is not an easy task, but Schipper did it well. With some prodding from Mr. Ball, the commissioners, along with the rest of the council, did a very good job of keeping the student body informed and happy.

Hawk Squad's Spirit Grows

By Noel Graves

"There's a lot more spirit and involvement this year," said Julie Thompson, president of Hawk Squad. Over 30 students were involved. The majority of them consisted of freshmen and sophomores.

The Hawk Squad participated in traditional activities such as selling balloon o'grams, flower grams, and holding a bake sale. "Even though some of the planned activities were cancelled, the spirit made up for it," explained RJ Metoyer, Hawk Squad member.

Hawk Squad officers were: Julie Thompson, president; Paul Juengling, vice president; Cinnamon Legere, commissioner of finance; Michelle Bannerman, treasurer.

Headed by Al Brown, the Student Store thrived. Day in and day out, students crowded into the store at snack and lunch.

The students who help Brown run the store receive 2.5 credits per semester for working during snack and lunch.

Not only were the workers doing this for the store, but for the school. The store raises money for the student body only.

This year, Al Brown took everyone who worked in the store to Disneyland for two days, where they stayed at the Hilton Hotel, all expenses paid.

Showmanship Earns Firsts

By Helene Yi

Growth of Dance Drill inspired the teachers as well as the students of all classes with their excellent performances at half-time shows and pep rallies. They are known to people outside of Redondo by their precise performances at competitions.

One of their competitions at La Habra was a "great success" said Shelley Dobler, captain, coming back home at first place and the band winning the sweepstakes. "With the help of Kitty Henter (adviser) and 38 members doing their job, the team showed more showmanship than ever," said Shelley Dobler, captain, "I guess it comes natural to the girls when they're having so much fun out there."

Dance Drill is a support group for the band, helping with fund raisers and field competitions etc. ... but to the girls they're just one happy family that works together to be perfect. In their spare time, the Dance Drill sells Rooter ribbons on campus to teachers and students to promote spirit for the teams. They also joined the Red and White Carnival by working at the pillow booth where they had fun as well as earned money.

"The help of parents and Henter, and the girls on the team being as one, we strive to be the best and make it #1," said Shelley Dobler, '84 Dance Drill Captain.

Jazz Band, Choir Perform Well

By Jennifer Aust

Jazz Band and Choir lightened up Carl Pritzkat's eyes when he walked into the job.

Jazz Band and Choir were much more organized and more professional than in previous years.

The Jazz Band was mostly made up of advanced players who played more difficult and challenging music.

The Choir had some changes. There were some guys in the group, and the members each did more solos.

The choir also doubled in size.

They did a few activities during the year. They had a Christmas concert, a spring concert and did the Eagle's memorial service.

"I really enjoyed being on choir because it made me feel active in school," said Cinnamon Legere, sophomore.

"Choir was a lot more fun and the people happened to care more this year," said Jennifer Nash, sophomore.

"They were great," said Pritzkat, jazz band and choir director, "I loved it."

Co-Ed Pep Squad Unites As One

By Cathy Fisher

"United as one, co-ed Pep Squad can go all the way."

"Making the change from cheerleaders, songleaders, and short flags to one large co-ed squad had some difficult moments, but I'm glad we have united the separate squads to form as one large spirited group

"The unity amongst the squad came alive this year!" Kitty Henter, Pep Squad adviser stated emphatically.

"Unity is a key word in our squad. We work hard, and we work together," stated Missy Burdick, varsity cheer captain.

"The boys on the squad were a great addition. They seem to bring more excitement to the school than ever before," Burdick added.

Along with going co-ed this year, the JV cheerleaders were brought back. They are a great asset to the building of the future varsity squad, according to Henter.

Through the support of a strong parents' organization, pep squad purchased new uniforms and props which will be passed down year after year.

"This will make cheerleading less costly," Henter concluded.

R.U.H.S. Sea Hawk Band

By Cathy Fisher

"The band this year is stronger than ever! We seem to work very well under pressure," stated Mr. Wayne Brashear.

The band spent at least two hours a day working on various projects. They worked out all the details in field shows, planned for parades, and worked towards competitions.

The Sea Hawks, always good in competitions, did exceedingly well this year. In their first major competition, they took sweepstakes.

The spirit of the marching band and support groups can be noticed all over campus, along with their entertainment.

Doing shows at Disneyland and at Dodger Stadium has been a tradition for the Sea Hawk band, and this year they were invited back.

Drum Major Joe Workman thinks that the band is one of the neatest groups on campus and hopes more people join in the future.

Rhonda Lundberg, shields captain, says, "It's a lot of hard work, but I love the glory of being on the number one Sea Hawk band!"

Most of the band members and members of band auxiliary enthusiastically agree!

Red And White Spirit Flows

By Heather Battershall

Red and White spirit overflowed once again as Red and White Week was another success. Shannon Elliott sald, "This year's carnival was the best ever. Along with it being fun, it turned out to be very profitable."

The main events during the Red and White Week were the carnival and the traditional Homecoming Dance. Both proved to be a suc-

The carnival occurred on October 17 after our shortened school day and was located in front of the girls' gym on the practice field

Over 20 clubs and organizations on campus had booths. The booths ranged from games such as ring-tossing to basketball hoop shooting. One of the food booths was chocolate crepes presented by the French Club

The Homecoming Dance, sponsored by Semper Comites, was October 19 after the football game.

The decorations and the music were very professional. Ursula Wiljanen, junior, said, "Homecoming has taken on a sophisticated atmosphere. People go for the fun and enjoyment of dancing with their friends."

Along with the dance comes the Red and White Court: Queen Julie Peterson, Senior Princess Robin Miller, Junior Princess Julie Myers, Sophomore Princess Darlynn Ernst and Freshman Princess Shari Johnston

Reputation Flies Up, Up, Away

By Jennifer Aust

"High Tide is an exemplary publication in that the students strive to implement basic ethics and values that are necessary for journalists in today's society. I think most of the staff could succeed in a professional capacity. They've really improved since the beginning of the year, and I know it's been a tough time for some of them adjusting to yet another new adviser," said Susan DeWitz, adviser.

Some changes took place as the new adviser took over. Instead of being a weekly publication, the paper was scheduled bi-monthly. This new schedule was because of budget problems and quality inconsistencies.

"I care about quality rather than quantity. A good product was our goal," said DeWitz. Some of the staff's opinions differed regarding the new schedule. "I think it's better weekly because a weekly paper requires more discipline. You have to work harder," said Kerry O'Shea, editor-inchief.

The 1984-85 staff was headed by Kerry O'Shea, editor-inchief; Sunny Limuti, managing editor; Glen Stephens, assistant managing editor; Melanie Lee, photo editor; Lana Gee-Choy, co-editorial editor; Karen York, co-editorial editor; Gina Gianeill, co-features editor; Gene Benda, co-features editor; Mike Murphy, assistant news editor; Sunee Zeitz, news editor and Cheryl Kau, sports editor.

"Hopefully we, the 1984-85 staff were able to up the reputation of High Tide and make it a respectable high school newspaper again, not only in the eyes of the administration, but also in the eyes of our peers," said Limuti.

CSF Students-Makin' The Grade

By Aaron Stern and Tonya Sorenson

California Scholarship Federation is a state-wide organization.

The purpose of CSF is to foster a higher standard of scholarship. "Scholarship for Service," is the motto that serves as a goal for students.

To be a member of CSF, students must earn a total of ten points in a semester. (A grade of "A" is worth three points, and a "B" is worth one.) A student must be enrolled in three academic subjects, earning a minimum of seven points.

At graduation, a gold pin, bearing the lamp of learning, is awarded to students who have been members of the organization four of the last six semesters, one of which must be the senior year.

Those earning the pin then become life members and seal bearers upon graduation. The honor of being president of the Scholarship Federation Is given to the wearer of the "mantle." This is to be awarded to the highest ranking junior, who then acts as mantle bearer during the senior year.

- FIRST SEMESTER CSF—Second semester CSF Included Seniors. Gina McGregor, Gina Orozco and Susan Spotts. Leading the way and carrying the Ivy Chain at graduation were the most Important parts of the ceremony performed by lvy Chain members.

The Ivy Chain members were led by the top juniors (selected by the counselors) with the average grade of "B" or higher. Other requirements taken into consideration were citizenship. attendance, and whether one was active in school organizations. The faculty then voted on which students were qualified.

The graduation was led by four Honor Guards and four Marshalls who led the seniors into the ceremony. The Marshalls were organized by Roger Schriefer, U.S. History teacher. The other 32 members carried the lvy Chain, which was organized by Richard McIntosh, U.S. History teacher. The lvy is symbolic of the college scholastic performance.

Leading the Ushers was Beatrice Savellano, U.S. history teacher. She made sure that the guests were seated by the Ushers and given the ceremony programs, which were distributed by the Ushers. Ivy Chain is a tradition more than thirty years old, and Redondo will hold that tradition as long as possi-

Students Travel, Lea

By Heather Battershall

There were many new and exciting young foreign exchange students at school.

They were Anna Stalteri, junior, and Asa Traskelin, senior, from Sweden; Amanda Buckles, senior, from England and Steffany Linke, junior, from Germany.

Bonnie Cohn is In charge of organizing the exchange students.

Anna Stalteri said, "Coming to live in the United States has been a lifetime experience."

There were also students who went abroad. They were Elena Quintana, who went to Equador; Cari Wilks to France and Mark Gilbert to Turkey.

Three students went to the state capital last summer. They were Mike Dillon, Kerry O'Shea and Susan Spotts.

They were chosen by a panel of teachers who picked the student who excelled in student government and showed good leadership qualities.

The students went to the capital so they could better acquaint themselves with their state and local government.

Susan Spotts said, "Going to the capitol was a great experience and a great honor because I learned a lot."

Clubs Speak Fluently

By Jennifer Aust

Cervantes is an honorary society that consists of the fourth-year Spanish students.

This club helped members speak the language more fluently. "I enjoy It, and It has helped me a lot," said Gina McGregor, senior.

To be accepted in the club, students must have been in third year Spanish.

The club was led by Gina McGregor, president; Wini Ladd, vice-president; Elena Quintana, secretary and Marco Sevilla, treasurer.

"I love French Club because it gives you a chance to actively use French in a country where it isn't spoken, and no one will look at you funny!" smiled Asa Träskelin, senior and AP French student,

French Club, otherwise known as Le Cercie Francais, was first formed to give French students deeper opportunities to learn the language and culture of France and share this everincreasing knowledge with one another. This purpose (con't on pg. 273)

42 Sophrosune

Business And Culture Flourish

By Helene Yi

With the help of Jayne Kawakami, adviser, the Future Business Leaders of America got organized for the concession stands on the visitors' side of the home football and basketball games.

Most of the money raised was used for scholarships; the rest was used for conferences and competitions. They competed in both area and state-wide competitions.

Officers were Pam Milner, president; Cassie Tchakirides, secretary; Connie Cho, treasurer; Lucy Villa, historian and Cindi Adler, parliamentarian. By Asa Traskelin

Every day during snack in room 406 one could meet a bunch of people geared toward culture. Having been together in their Honors English program since freshman year, this group of juniors, calling themselves Sophrosune, really "stuck together."

The club's biggest problem was getting teachers to come with this large group of cultivated brains when they wanted to broaden their minds by attending some cultural event.

Going to American and Shakespearean plays was the most prominent idea for this year's activities.

1 CULTURAL HOT DOGS — At The Red and White Carnival Sophrosune sells hot dogs to raise money to go on cultural field trips. Shannon Quigley, president, Kathy Runk and Mara Conner, secretary.

2. A HUMANITIES PARTY — Sophrosune members enjoy going together to museums and plays. Once in a while they have a humanities party.

3. POTENTIAL BUSINESS LEADERS — Gus Amaya, Anne-Lise Bosteter, Connie Cho, Lucy Villa, Cassie Tchaktrides, Teresa Ordaz, Sandra Ramírez and Nicol Sparkman

4. HIDING BEHIND A POLE — You have to know the skill of how to be seen in able to become one of the Future Business Leaders of America. Practicing this skill are Connie Cho, senior; Cindi Adler, sophomore; Lucy Villa, senior; and Cassie Tchakirides, junior.

Cheerful Clubs Get

By Heather Battershall

Semper Comites and Interact club showed a lot of interest and enthusiasm.

Alicia Loomis, president of Semper Comites, did an incredible job with adviser Leigh Mulhearn in making the girls' club run smoothly.

One of the main events they sponsored was the traditional Red and White Dance. They also had a booth at the Red and White Carnival.

The officers were Alicia Loomis, senior; vice-president Lisa Motoyama, senior; secretary Jili Morphy, senior; treasurer Mara Conner, junior; sargeant-atarms Jennifer Goray, junior and hospitality Wendy Beckerson, junior.

Another exciting club on campus is Interact, a boys' and girls' service organization which has been in existence for two years.

It is similar to Semper Comites in that it does specific services for the community and also for smaller individual groups.

The officers were president Karen Trimble, senior; vice-president Cathy Evans, senior; secretary Cari Wilks, senior; and historian Jeff Baker, senior.

46 Stage Crew

They Are Willing To Learn

By Asa Träskelin

"The potential is massive for anyone who is willing to come in here and learn about stage craft," said Paul Rick, senior.

During the fall, the drama room was made into the new "Campus Theatre." This provided an excellent opportunity for stage crew to learn about new techniques. "A small stage like the one in the drama room opens as many possibilities as a big one and is just as exciting to work with," stated Jim Poole, instructor for stagecraft.

"It always feels like there's one more thing you could do about your character, dance or song," said Winnie Ladd, senior, "We never feel ready," agreed a bunch of well-experienced Thespians.

The challenge of the Thespians was to get their plays ready on time. "It's a lot of work, but you meet good people," said Jessica Holada, sophomore. "There has really been a lot of genuine concern, love and talent in the people down here," said Paul Collette, drama director.

Winter Play Turns Out Right

By Asa Traskelin

"Collage a Trois," the winter drama production, comprised three one-act plays.

In the first one, "The Medicine Show," two unsuspecting couples and a tagalong came across an old Indian chiropractor who offered to "take away their pains," The audience came to know that the chiropractor took away MORE than just bodily pain

At the outset of the second play, "Kaleidoscope," a spaceship was hit by a meteor. Thrown out into space thousands of miles apart, the seven crew members were able to communicate. Knowing they were going to die, they spent their last few minutes of life arguing and recalling the past with one another.

"Ernie imagines things and they happen," said Chris Campbell, senior, as Dad in the third play, "Ernie's Incredible Illucinations." When Ernie imagined things, they involved everyone! His doctor couldn't possibly do anything about dumped bodies of German soldiers in the living room ... We just had to hope that all would turn out right

- CHILDREN ON MARS Just before she dies, Caryn Bredon as Lespere in "Kaleidoscope" thinks of her children who were safely living on Mars.

3 LISTEN, NOW ERNIE! — Jessica Holada as Auntie Maud teaches Ernie, portrayed by Eric Bybee, a lesson in manners during rehearsal.

4 DAD SAVES LIBRARIAN — Chris Campbell as Dad rescues the librarian, played by Carrie Olsen, who thinks she has broken her leg

 MY BACK BROKE — When Randy Tedder as Hal unloads his wife by carrying one of her bags, he bursts out, suffering from a pain, which he cannot withhold.

6 I FEEL PAIN — Annette Wicks in the role of chiropractor convinces her fellow actors that they suffer from pain: Phil Nakov, Kenny Barr, Cathy Edwards, Annette Wicks, Ian Mitchell, and lying down being healed, Shannon Ivy.

 PUT HELMETS ON — Captain, played by Armida Reed, top, tells her crew to get ready for a collision with a meteor. Crew: Wini Ladd, Carol Bean, Caryn Bredon, Michelle Lamb, Carrie Olsen.

50 Winter Fantasy

Students Dance In Winter Rain

by Asa Träskelin

On the 15th of December it was time again for the RUHS yearly winter semiformal dance, the Winter Fantasy. The girls' gym was made into a ballroom, decorated with a blue and silver color scheme. Many people thought the gym looked the best ever.

Dinner was served at the dance. The buffet consisted of different kinds of meat, including turkey and ham, tempting vegetable arrangements, fresh bread and cheese. Dessert was chocolate mousse and various tasty pastries.

"The punch was pretty good," said Walter Hastey, senior prince. Ursula Wiljanen, junior, liked the punch machine. "It was cool," she said.

The dancing went wild. Someone mentioned that maybe the music was a little bit too wild for fancy dress. Under the beautifully decorated roof, 130 couples let loose and enjoyed the evening. Dance Drill, which for the third year in a row sponsored the dance, made their best sale ever.

Walking out into the pouring rain after the dance was over, everybody seemed happy "dancing in the rain..."

52 Opus, Quill And Scroll

Campus Organizations Excel

By Paul Bishop

Quill and Scroll, the school's oldest literary organization, continued its fine tradition. Ouill and Scroll is an organization for juniors and seniors involved in journalism and literary publications. Members this year included Lucy Villa, Kerry O'Shea, Jeff Baker, Ursula Willianen, Carol Hunt, Cheryl Kau, Heather Battershall, Sunny Limuti, Lana Gee-Choy, and Sunee Zeitz. Quill and Scroll gives students with journalistic and artistic talents a chance to be recognized. Students involved in Quill and Scroll receive opportunities to win scholarships and prizes in contests held nation-wide. "Quill and Scroll offers many important opportunities that are especially important to students involved in journalism or publications," stated Susan DeWitz, adviser.

Another literary organization on campus is Opus, the school's literary magazine. Opus is put out once a year and sold for a small fee. The publication includes short stories, poems, and artwork created by students. The staff, led by co-editors Mara Conner and Danielle Rippe. put the best writing and artwork together in the form of the magazine. The artwork, poetry, and stories are chosen by staff members, and are put together into the form of Opus. "Opus is a magazine for everyone," concluded Ursula Wiljanen, staff writer.

Math Club is an organization consisting of interested math students. The clubs sponsor was Donna Fea. math teacher, Among other activities, the Math Club participated in many competitions with other schools. "We did very well in competitions this year," stated one member. As a whole, the Math Club did very well.

Students Have Fun On Campus

By Helene Yı

Utah, Tahoe and Mammoth are just some of the places the Ski Club attends each year in December.

Donna Fea and Neil Polaske sponsor the ski trips with an average of twenty-four students going on the trips. One of their biggest trips was to Utah. They skied at Snowbird, Alta, Deer Valley and Solitude. The kids chose the resorts they skied at for the day.

The Ski Club spent five days in Utah and then headed back home in time for the new year.

Time Adventurers Guild was a club for people with imagination. Meeting once a week, the Time Adventurers played role-playing games. It was open to all the students who liked to meet others full of imaginary thoughts. The game usually lasted a couple of hours.

The club was fairly new to Redondo. Junior Dave Sussin, president, organizes the games. He has been a member for three years, ever since it first started, with Mary Johnson as the adviser.

They also raised money for the prizes they gave to the students who won the games. They held a "To Kill a Candle" booth at the Red and White carnival. The money from the booth helped the club get prizes for the winners of the games.

"You have to be strange enough to want to hang around us!" concluded Steve Beitzel, Junior.

Scuba, New Life Set Standards.

The New Life Club grew stronger than ever this year. The club became 30 members strong. Meeting every Thursday in room 313 was hard to get all the members to do so the club met every other Thursday to get everything accomplished.

The group wasn't a widely known club on campus but would like to keep increasing in size every year.

The adviser was George VanNortwick. In past years the group had been sponsored by several different teachers on campus.

"The club gets together and just has a good time," said VanNortwick.

At the Red and White Carnival, the group raised a good sum of money for a banquet, which was held at the end of the year.

- 1. 80TTOM WE GO—Scuba explorers adventure their way to the bottom of the ocean.
- 2. EXPLORING THE SCENERY—Two explorers look at a shell on the ocean floor.
- 3. NEW LIFE MEMBERS—Get dressed up for a special occasion.
- 4. HOLD THAT POSE—The new life members met every other Thursday.
- 5. TOSSING THE RING.—Throw the ring and win some hard cash.
- 6. IN THE ACT-Scuba explorers go down side by side.
- 7. FINDING NEW LIFE—Explorers learn what is at the bottom of the ocean.

Volunteers Gain Experience

By Tonya Sorenson

Throughout the year there has been a group of students called Teen Advocates.

They have been helping out by operating a Care-line, which is a service where they give advice and suggestions on various problems from alcohol to pregnancy. The Advocates have been trained specifically in personal and family relationships, drug abuse, sexual problems and birth control.

"I think the program is a great way of reaching teens that are uninformed or misinformed. I like the fact that I can be there to help them sort out there confusions," stated Dawn Miller, junior.

Another service that they provided was the Safe Rides notline. This was for any teen who was too drunk to drive home, or was stranded without a ride home. This service covered most of the South Bay.

Another one of the caring groups on campus was the hospital volunteers also known as Candy Stripers. These boys and girls, led by Mrs. Sutton, helped out in various ways. They answered phones, helped admit and discharge patients, made beds, took temperature and pulse readings, and answered patients' lights.

They put in a total of 700 to 1000 hours a month. Most worked after school, and some worked weekends.

"This is a marvelous way to help out others," stated Sutton.

Dance Company Moves To The Beat

By Cathy Fisher

"Dancing takes a lot of time and dedication, and If you are willing to put the effort it takes into dance, you can really be good," said Connie Marcopoulos, senior.

This year, the dance program really came on strong. A new feeder program was started to develop a stronger troupe in the future.

Beginning students, taught by Ms. Veeck, had their chance to perform along with the intermediate and advanced students at the dance concert.

One of the intermediate classes was taught by a talented student, Winnie Ladd. She choreographed the intermediate dance performed in the show. She also put together many of the other dances in the show.

The advanced and intermediate classes this year were mixed due to a problem in scheduling. Mrs. Ammentorp taught the advanced class. "The students in my classes are great, I have never had a better bunch of girls and boys to work with," she said.

Dance production this year formed as a club. It had a president and other officers to keep it organized.

ROTC—Three Years Strong

By Tonya Sorenson

For the third consecutive year, the Marine Corps Junior ROTC has been on campus here at Redondo

The JROTC is set up like a Marine Corps infantry unit with the following adults responsible: Lt.Col. William D. Shuman, MGy Sgt. Allen R. Roth, and Gy.Sgt. Raymond L. Curry.

Qualities that are needed to be in ROTC include attending a regular course of instruction in the South Bay Union High School District, citizenship of the United States, and an age of at least 14 years.

On the Redondo Campus, classes are held the first three periods of the day. Monday and Thursday are Physical Training, and Tuesday and Friday are Drill Classes. Wednesday is spent in the classroom for formal training.

On Physical Training days, the cadets do exercises and run about two miles. During Drill classes the cadets learn how to march and handle all forms of ceremonies and teamwork

In the classroom the cadets learn the main objective of the program, which is leadership education.

This unit participated in local parades at Christmas and on Armed Forces Day, and over Easter vacation they traveled to Hawaii for an orientation trip. They also had field meets which pitted platoon against platoon for motivation and teamwork, spirit and fun.

The Color Guards present the colors and drill work for all the home football and basketball games.

64 Spanish/Raquetball

New Organizations Thrive

By Maria Glosser and Ursula Willanen

Considering it was the Spanish Club's first year, it accomplished a great deal. It was already a part of the Sister City Organization, a program through which the club corresponded with similar groups in La Paz and Ensenada in Mexico. The club promoted a toy drive for the children of Ensenada and visited Mexico during Christmas vacation. They also constructed a float for the Hollywood Riviera Christmas Parade

"It's a great opportunity to get to know more about another culture," said Cindy Mitobe According to adviser Linda Fowler, through these activities the club hoped to develop understanding and communication between themselves and our nearest neighboring country and to increase ability to use the Spanish language

The Raquetball Club was another newly formed but active club on campus. The club was sponsored by Donna Fee and headed by Stephanie Luciano. 'She (Luciano) really did all the arranging," Fea commented

There was a six-week league in which individuals could win trophies or ribbons. The 26 club members competed every Saturday at the club on Hawthorne Blvd. The league con-sisted of 3 divisions: novice, intermediate and advanced

"Each person played two real matches, and then just played for fun!" Fea smiled.

Yet another active group new to Redondo was Friends and Parents (FAP). an adult support group.

'Our main goal is to receive the ganeral support of teachers, parents, and students," stated Sande Fritz, presi-

Athletics Benefit Students, Faculty

Answers to these questions lie in many channels. Many students joined teams because they wanted a challenge. Others had participated in certain sports for many years before high school and wanted to pursue those sports once they entered high school. Still others participated for companionship, or exercise.

No matter what the reason, participation in athletics reaped many benefits. Outstanding athletes and those who weren't so naturally gifted alike received recognition for their efforts. Sports gave students goals and challenges and motivation qualities which branched into academic growth as well. This year more students were able to participate in sports due to the termination of sports fees.

Athletics also benefited the entire student body and faculty, not merely the athletes. Sports promoted school spirit, and it was at the Friday evening games where students, faculty, and parents would let down their shields and all be on the same side - that of our Sea Hawk teams!

Varsity Gridders Make Changes

By Paul Bishop

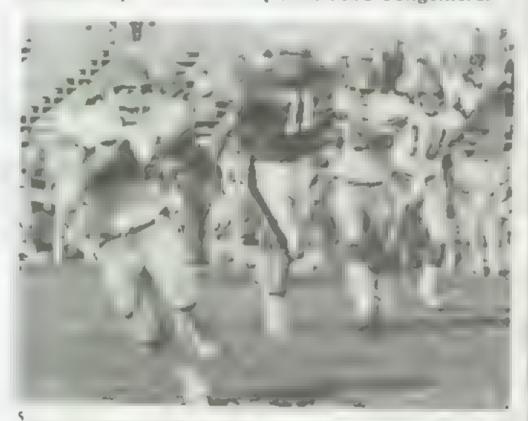

The varsity football team ended their season with a win record of 0-9-1. Though not shown through statistics, varsity had a good team season.

"Even though we were 0-9-1, we established a foundation for a good football program," stated Les Congelliere, varsity head coach.

This year's football program consisted of a new varsity coaching staff. Head coach was Les Congelliere and assistant coaches Bob Wobbrock, Don Morrow, and Tim Ammentorp.

The football team entered the Bay League, one of the most competitive leagues in football. "Injuries had a devastating effect on the season," explained Coach Congelliere. Al Trudeau dislocated his shoulder: Scott Intravia broke his collar bone: Gene Benda broke an ankle; Jerry Dufek tore ligaments in his knee, and Larry Olivas Injured a knee. Even with an epidemic of injuries, the team struggled on, never giving up.

"The attitude of the players was always great, and they never gave up," concluded Congelliere.

Junior Varsity Challenges Odds

By Paul Bishop

The J.V. football team entered the Bay League, one of the strongest and most competitive leagues. The team had a completely new look this year, from new uniforms to new coaches.

This year's coaching staff consisted of head coach Jim St. Hilaire and assistant coaches Butch Siefert and Lorenzo Sanchez. Being in a tougher league and changes in the coaching staff caused the entire program to change.

Besides formal changes, another difficulty the team had to face was the many player injuries that plagued them. The team went through an average of two quarterbacks a game.

Despite the changes and injuries, the team strived for excellence against the odds. Unfortunately the team came up with only one win this season. But the varsity program begins here, and if these players were examples of the courage and integrity we have on our teams, they will have great varsity years ahead of them!

Endurance Is The Varsity's Game

By Helene Yi

Leading the way for the varsity girls cross country team was coach Brian Mason who trained them to run like pros, which is what every girl wants.

Coach Mason is an "outsider" coach who comes to Redondo to help and see that the girls are getting the right training. To the girls, Mason is one out of a million. "We haven't had the right coach for a long time until Mr. Mason took over the girls cross country," said Robin Miller and severai other girls from the varsity team. According to coach Mason, "The girls ran in a strong league, but they handled it great."

The most valuable was Cheryl Kau, senior. She was one of the girls who ran not only for fun but to win.

By being tougher and working stronger than ever, the girls made it pay off at the end.

J.V. Girls Run With Confidence

By Helene Yi

Being in their own little group as the J.V. team, the girls find it easier to train and also to find time to know their weak and strong qualities in themselves as well as the others. The team always prepared for a meet by showing confidence.

Coaching with Brian Mason, the girls felt it was important to listen and do as he said because they knew it would do them well at the end. "Without Coach Mason the J.V. girls wouldn't have the confidence as much as he gave us; he was there whenever we needed him," said Heather Battershall, senior.

The most valuable and inspirational runner was Heather Battershall, senior. Battershall said, "Running cross country has not only been an exciting and exhilarating experience but also a very challenging one."

Runners' Motto: No Pain, No Gain

By Helene Yi

Having a young and inexperlenced team at the beginning slowly changed meet by meet.

The varsity boys worked hard to meet their peak, running as a group every day, training themselves as well others, knowing them as a whole not as individuals.

Redondo seemed to be one of the hardest trails for running, but the help of coach Ed Austin trained the team for the course.

The most valuable runner was Brett Harris, junior. The number one runner, Richard Jacobs, was hurt all year.

According to Coach Austin, "Success is doing your very best, and that made us have a successful season."

Known for their stamina and endurance is the J.V. boys cross country. They worked hard to get 2nd place in the league finals, led by Tim Banks, junior; Roland Widmann, senior; Miguel Fouts, senior; Ron Combs, senior; Dennis McGowan, senior.

Coached by Ed Austin, the boys trained to run through the rough course of Redondo, but from the help of the coach they ran it rapidly and smoothly through those three miles.

As a whole, the team stayed together running in the same pace trying to give each other the confidence of winning at the finish line.

Coach Austin said,
"The J.V. team did an excellent job all around."

By Jennifer Aust

"The varsity girls' tennis team had a fine season considering the strength of the Bay League," said Jim Ball, coach.

The team finished 6-0 in the practice matches and defeated three teams that made the CIF playoffs.

The four teams which finished ahead of the Sea Hawks in the league were all rated in the top 10 of the CIF 4A.

The final record was 10-8. Julie DeArmond, junior, made varsity Co-MVP and 1st Team All Bay League. Cindy Sabandal, sophomore, made second Team All Bay League.

"With a 3rd place finish for the jv's and four top players coming back next year, the future looks bright for next year's team," said Ball.

Sea Hawk Spikers Come Alive

By Cathy Fisher

The girls' volleyball team had a very successful season this year. They played well during league, and they also did very well in tournaments.

The team was coached by two outstanding men. Head coach, Paul Vigiano, was helped by Steve Shaw, who spent his time working with both the varsity and the junior varsity teams. According to Shaw, during league play the team beat the teams it should have beaten and lost to the really exceptional teams. The team always played at 100 percent. They were a very close group of girls that worked very well together.

The team had two of the best setters in the league, seniors Mele Pennings and Cori MacDonneil. They worked side by side to get the job done. The team's most valuable player was Shannon Quigley, junior, who also made second team all league.

The most imspirational player was Patty Lininger, senior. "The team could have never made it without her," said Shaw. Camille Burgess, senior, was the team's most improved player. "When she came off the bench, she got the job done," concluded Shaw.

Motivation Helps Spikers

By Cathy Fisher

The girls j.v. volleyball season this year was a great success. The team, coached by Steve Shaw, had a 9-3 record.

"The energy through this year's team was great," stated Shaw. During tournament play, the girls played to their highest potential, said Shaw.

"I loved the feeling of playing against the top ranked teams because I got myself so motivated that I felt like I could do anything out there on the court," said Cammie Goodell, sophomore.

The girls went out and did their best. They were always ready to go out and face their competitors.

"There is certainly a good future in girls' volleyball at Redondo and the girls j.v. volleyball team this year proved it," stated Paul Vigano, girls varsity volleyball coach.

The girls played very hard and aggressively. One outstanding player on the team was Tracy Brown, sophomore.

Brown played both on the varsity team and on the j.v. team "She is an outstanding athlete" stated Shaw, "She always performed to her highest ability and was very helpful to the other players on the team."

H<sub>2</sub>O Polo Spirit Hits New High

By Asa Traskelin

"We could have beaten every team in the league. Hell Week built the bones. That is, we thought pretty strongly about ourselves," stated Glen Posada, junior.

"In the first few games we did well," said Mike Ackley, senior. "Then we became too big of heads," he added.

The goal for the RUHS varsity water polo team was to win half of their games. The actual outcome of the season was that they won 6 out of 17 games. Mark Rubks, head water polo coach, was not disappointed. After all, more individuals made the all-league team than ever before.

The highlight of the season was the South Bay Tournament. The team played four good games and headed for the consolation finals.

Next year Rubke hopes his guys will be a little meaner. "They are such nice guys," he confessed.

"We had a good team spirit," said Ackley. "Excellent spirit," agreed Rubke.

Frosh Poloists Show No Fear

By Asa Traskelin

The RUHS frosh-soph water polo team of 1984 consisted of 16 aggressive freshmen and one sophomore. "Most of them had never touched a water polo ball before," said Brian Weaver, frosh-soph water polo coach.

When it came to the first game, Weaver was, as he said, "very, very nervous." This first game turned out to be one of the very best games, according to Weaver. It was a close game. Redondo lost, but it was a moral victory for the frosh team. "From that point, we felt inspired!" said Weaver.

Redondo frosh-soph

won the following three games. Culver City, a team comprising only sophomores and juniors, was beaten by Redondo with a score of 8-7.

About his players, Weaver said: "They were so aggressive and loved the game so much that they took the losses as well as the gains. They were not afraid of making mistakes. They were always trying. Their future will be excellent."

"None of us knew what the game was when we first started. We helped each other learn, and that's what helped make us a TEAM," stated Joel Wiljanen, frosh-soph MVP.

Hoopsters Shoot To Win

By Lucy Villa

Completing the season at .500, the varsity girls' basketball team did better than coach Julie Groff expected, especially after moving up to Bay League.

According to Groff, captain Cathy Boe, senior, kept the team together.

However, lack of a highscorer and an abundance of injuries hurt the team.

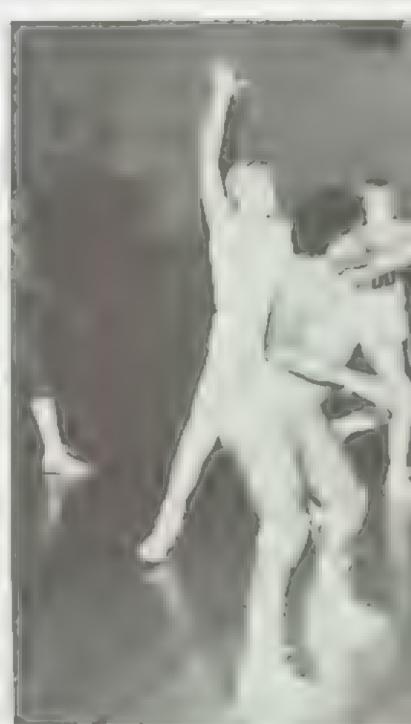

"Having Taml Woodward, (junior center,) would have made a big difference," said Groff. Another high scorer, Yvette Proctor, junior, was out three-fourths of the time. Till Proctor, junior was out of play for three weeks.

The team had no scorer, but Groff felt that Sherri Fox, sophomore, was the most consistent shooter. Fox, the most valuable player and Marlo Correa, sophomore,
made the all-league second team.

Larry Hodges assisted in coaching the team, which finished in fourth place.

By Noel Graves

"The girls' J.V. Basketball team had an outstanding season," said J.V. coach, Tim Ammentorp. And he was right. The team had a Bay League record of 12-0 which surprised everyone considering most of the team was made up of freshmen and only three sophomores.

The team was not given special awards because Ammentorp felt that every team member contributed equally.

The team improved with ev-

The team did very well according to Teresa Gamez. mostly due to coaching by Tim Ammentorp.

"He was the best coach I've ever had because we had fun and learned a lot, and that's the way it should be," she said.

"The team did really good because we had a lot of confidence in ourselves and what makes it even bette is everyone got a chance to play during the season," she said. Cinnamon ery game and many will go on | Legere, sophomore Sea Hawk.

This year's varsity basketball team did a great job, according to Coach John Frodsham.

The team's preseason record was 9-3, and they proved to be successful through the whole season.

it is obvious to everyone that Redondo and Mira Costa were true rivals, and always will be.
This year's Mira Costa basketball team was tough for Redondo; however, Redondo managed to beat Mira Costa 66-53.
The two real challenging teams this year were Santa Monica and West, according to Frodsham.

"The players worked well together as a team because they trained very hard," stated Frodsham.

With a 3-3 league record, beating Palos Verdes, Mira Costa and Rolling Hills, the team proved to be very confident.

The two most outstanding players were Jeff Rodriguez, senior, and Steve Florentine, junior.

"I am pleased with the team's progress, and I believe that they are contenders for CIF finals," said Frodsham.

By Ursula Wiljanen

"The purpose of the junior varsity team is mainly to prepare the players for varsity," j.v. Coach Steve Shaw explained.

The J.v. team had a successful season this year, according to Shaw. The team held a record of 3-3 in league after the first round of games.

"Our goal for the second round is to have only one loss record-wise," said Shaw.

"The team is made of twelve hard workers; the key to our success is that each of the twelve understands his role on the team," Shaw stated. "I've been really pleased with our success this season," he added.

The game against rival Mira Costa was the team's best game, according to Shaw. "It was a big win, since it was such a close game, and there was a crowd. It was also our second win in a row, so it helped us learn."

how to win!" Shaw smiled.

The key players on the j.v. team were Chris Thomas, junior, and Josh Riddle and Mike Sousa, sophomores.

The sophomore team is also structured "to develop future varsity players," according to Coach Don Morrow.

"The goals for the team this season are to establish a strong man-to-man defensive team, a strong passing offense and to be competitive in every game," he stated.

Key players on the sophomore team included Mike Stone, Jeff Ball, Hank Houck, Terry Robinson and Scott Yessner.

The freshman team is the "training ground" for the basketball players, according to Coach Steve Sorensen.

Key players on the freshman team included Mike Paley and Aaron Haynes, co-captains; Jaysen Surber and Dan Friedman.

Running back and forth, across the field, the j.v. girls never gave up. "The girls had an outstanding attitude and a lot of spirit," said Jan Lipenski, Junior Varsity soccer coach.

"They played as good as last year, if not better, considering that they played in a tougher league, added Lipenski.

The team placed third in Bay League, which was partly due to some of the best players being pulled up to the varsity team when the J.v. team needed them the most.

"Overall, the team made tremendous improvement," said Lipenski.

The boys' soccer team ended its season with a overall record of 11-7-2.

After moving into the Bay League, Redondo faced some tough opponents.

We had a good first half but could have done better in the second," said captain Bob Sibbaid.

Although the second half of the season was tough, the team was confident of a playoff position after beating Santa Monica, Mira Costa and West.

The league ended with an important win over South. This victory clinched a third place position and advanced the team to the first round of CIF.

"This game was important for us. If we would have lost, South would have gone instead of us," said fullback Brian Dodd. the team was to play Simi Valley, the league champs from the Marmonte League.

Redondo had dominated the first half with a quick goal by forward Todd Victorino.

"The second half was close, but we just couldn't get one more goal," said midfielder Jason Thompson.

The game went scoreless for seven minutes until Danny Rennison put one in from a cross by Joe Hernandez.

With twenty seconds left, Victorino had his second goal, ending the game 4-3.

"The team played well throughout the game. No one gave up," said coach Bob Sibbald.

Bob Sibbald, Dave Clark, Brian Dodd, Danny Rennison, Joe Hernandez, and Todd Victorino were selected as first and second team all-league players.

The boys' j.v. soccer team ended its season with an overall record of 8-10-2. "The j.v. team had a good season, but just couldn't win enough games to place," had outstanding players this year, all of which will help for a better varsity team next year, according to Clarke.

Eric King, the goalie, helped save important games and even had three shutouts in league play. The fullback line, consisting of Chris Dodd, Ethan Kreisworth, Reuben Saldano and Tom Troyn, helped King in defending the goal. The midfield had Scott Liedtke, Pablo Temprano and Nick Ristovski to close off the center of the field and assist the forwards.

While the fullback line and midfield was being taken care of, the forward line, consisting of Todd Combs, Jon Kiester and Ifthkar Ahmed, was scoring all of the goals and trying in each game to bring the team to victory.

"We had a good j.v. team this year, but the team just didn't get the chance for a third place position," said fullback Chris Dodd. Although the j.v. team didn't place this year, the boys and their coaches were proud of the season they had and were looking forward to an even strong junior varsity team next year.

"The boys' j.v. soccer team had a lot of changes during the season and it was hard for the team to play well together at times, but it was also these changes that won games for the team," said coach Sean Outpo

Synchro Turns On Water Works

By Lucy Villa

Working all through first semester and after school, the synchronized swim team performed "Water Works" without any problems.

Because of added popularity to the sport from the Olympics and because of more experienced swimmers, the routines were more difficult, according to Lynn Seppanen, sponsor.

This was the first time that a routine of international level difficulty had been performed, and Seppanen would like to see more of those routines in the future. The four duets from the show performed the routine. "The eight really talented girls did a really good job," said Seppanen.

"Melanie Lee and Paula White, (seniors) co-manager, helped the others with their routines. "I try to get the students to solve the problems," she added.

"Even though there were other school activities, attendance was stronger than last year's was," said Lee.

Some of the "really talented girls" were: Renee Meyer, decorations manager; Tammy Stoner publicity manager; Pam Milner, stage manager; and Jill Morphy, music coordinator.

Varsity Grapples In Bay League

The varsity wrestling season turned out well. The varsity squad, led by Ernesto Amaya and Don Garriott, turned out many fine performances. Other standouts on the varsity squad were Don Oster and Fred Whitney.

Moving into the Bay League strongly influenced the team. "The Bay League, consisting of powerhouse teams such as West and Rolling Hills, is a large and intensely competitive league." explained head coach Alvin Fletcher.

Several members of the varsity squad showed their enthusiasm for the sport by wrestling in offseason tournaments when the regular season ended

"We had an overall good season; we were definitely competitive," stated Fletcher.

This was a transitional year for the wrestling program. A new coaching staff consisting of Alvin Fletcher, Ray Gilman and Lorenzo Sanchez helped the wrestling program to take on a new look.

"With returning team members and another year of coaching experience, we can look forward to a strong future in the wrestling program."

The freshman and j.v. wrestling teams performed well this year. The move to the Bay League affected the j.v. and freshman teams. The Bay League matched Redondo against stronger and more competitive schools.

"We were lacking in numbers of wrestlers to fill in at all of the weight categories," said Alvin Fletcher, head coach.

The members of the freshman and j.v. teams displayed a great deal of dedication and motivation. Standouts in the freshman program included Wayne Baldwin, Mike Amilino and Ray Lee.

"We have a strong foundation for our wrestling program in these freshman and j.v. wrestlers," said Fletcher.

The j.v. team had several good performances. Outstanding wrestlers included Brian Davis, Bob Bybee and Robert Frazer. It is in these teams that a strong varsity squad is put together.

Varsity Swings Into Bay League

By Paul Bishop

The varsity baseball team moved into the Bay League this past season. This move matched the team against tougher and more competitive schools. The varsity team did well against such powerhouse teams as Santa Monica and South High.

The Varsity Squad was composed of young players new to the team. The varsity turned out several fine performances this year, under the leadership of head coach Harry Jenkins.

Jenkins ruled the team under a tight schedule and tough training. He kept the team in shape and ready for the stiff competition that awaited them in the Bay League. The youngsters on the team looked up to the returning veterans for guidance and support.

The pitching staff was a | Bay League. definite standout in the varsity team's season. The team's energy on the field was conserved by the excellent pitching. Low E.R.A.s and a few basehits by opposing batters let Redondo focus it's efforts more directly on hitting.

And hit they did. The team's batting average rivalled that of any team in te Bay League. The Varsity's line-up was stacked with standout performances b such fine players as Matt Hale, Todd Denhart and Paul Johnson.

The team's focus and dedication led them through an outstanding season highlighted by fine performances by all the players. The player's display of determination and head coach Jenkins's devotion to his team brought the varsity baseball program to its peak. This team has proven to be a true contender in the Bay League.

J.V. Batters Excell In the Bay League

By Paul Bishop

The j.v. baseball team did well in the Bay League this past season. The move to the Bay League was a rough adjustment to conform to, but the j.v. batters fell into line. The team had moderate success and turned out several tremendous performances. The team's success was partly due to the support and guidance of head coach Tim Amentworp, "Coach Amentworp was a strict coach, but I feel that he really helped the team." explained Mike Stone, sophomore.

Amentworp greatly aided the team with strict discipline and rigorous training. The team's success was affiliated with the hard work of dedicated players. This hard work, in the end, grew into a successful season for the j.v. team. Stone stated, "There was a great deal of team effort."

The pitching staff was backed up by competent fielders. One pitcher related, "It was easier to pitch, knowing that I had a solid defense backing me up."

The team working together toward the same goal created a special bond between the players. This team effort held in winning tough games. The team played competitively and lived up to their individual expectations.

The players have hopes for the future. Next year, most of the j.v. players hope to be on the varsity squad. The fine performances and attitudes displayed by these athletes show positive hopes for the future of the j.v. and varsity baseball programs in the Bay League.

Teamwork Makes RUHS Swim Fast

By Asa Traskelin

"The girls love to hate me and that makes them swim fast. It gives them a lot more motivation than most coaches give them," said Mark Rubke, varsity swimming coach.

"Rubke as a coach?! ruthless!" said Gabriella Gyurko, senior. She added that the team would not be much without him.

"The swimming team is a family. I'm Dad," stated Rubke.

The swim team members strongly feel that they are not individuals, but part of a team. Since 1980 the boys and girls have been practicing together. During the season there was a "carbohydrate boost party" almost every Thursday. At these get-togethers, the team got excited and loaded up on energy for new victories and records in the next day's meet

Individually, all the girls on the varsity team set up high goals. They wanted to do well in the league and in CIF. Expectations were high.

"The most intense and exciting thing about swimming is when you swim in a meet and you hear someone cheer you. I expect that everybody will have an extremely exciting time, especially in league finals," said Tammy Stoner, senior.

Seppanen Builds Up Swimming Base

By Asa Traskelin

In swimming you have to rely on yourself, and what you can accomplish depends on the amount of practice you put into it.

"Swimming allows teenagers to meet a potential that they can put up for themselves," said Lynn Seppanen, jy swimming coach.

Seppanen has worked as a coach at Redondo for 15 years, and knew what she was talking about. She trained both jv girls and boys. They worked out together. Everybody seemed to agree that this was a good thing.

"It's more of a challenge when you work out with the boys who are much faster," said Brooke Nisen, freshman.

"You try to be more competitive so that the boys won't tease you afterwards," said Shannon Trani, freshman.

Most people who started out as freshmen had never swam in a club or in competitions before. After having learned the basics of swimming and mastering the four different strokes, the juteam worked on the fine points, getting better and better, faster and faster. Most people made varsity in the end of their sophomore year. Before they came that far they had to struggle.

"She works us hard," said Sharon Kirk, freshman, about the jv coach.

"That's the way they get better," commented Seppanen.

"It's hard work, but you get it back," said Kayleen Rhynd, freshman. "Mrs. Seppanen can get us to become a winning team."

RUHS Swimmers Perform On Top

By Kerry O'Shea

Although the varsity boys' swim team lost one member this year, Coach Mark Rubke still had a bright outlook for the season.

The team had been regrouped into the Bay League which had once been tough, but was now lacking in strength.

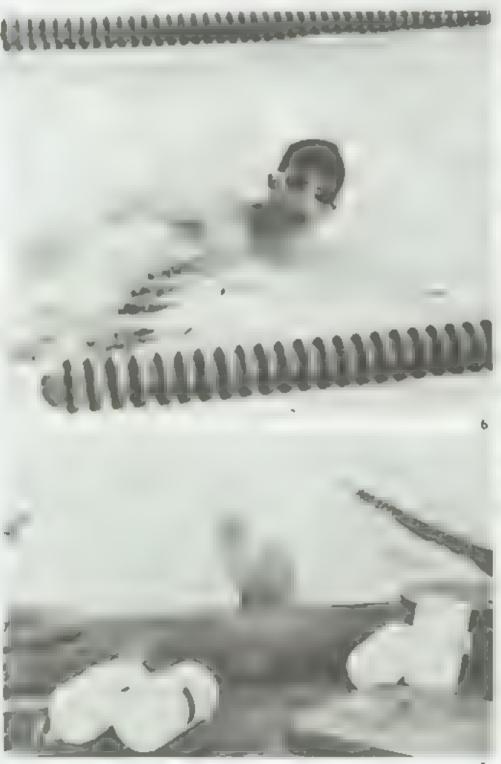

"We lost one senior but I think we're stronger and better so we can take advantage of the weaker league," Rubke said.

The league consisted of Mira Costa, Palos Verdes, Santa Monica and Rolling Hills.

According to Rubke, the team had stronger performances and a greater depth than usual for the season.

Top performers for the team were Mike Ackley, breastroke; Glenn Posada, utility; John Cakebread, butterfly; Kerry O'Shea, backstroke; and Dann Swanson, freestyle.

Swimmers Lead In Bay League

By Kerry O'Shea and Lucy Villa

With a large group of freshmen and some strong sophomores, the frosh-soph boys' swim team had a league-leading season.

By starting out with a first-place finish at the South Bay Relay meet at Beverly Hills, the team showed good depth and strength.

The team was led by sophomores Joe Jaramillo, Raul Rodriguez, Randy Stoner, Luis Rivera and freshman Robert Mitobe.

According to coach Lynn Seppanen, a strong background in water polo helped the team tremendously. "Many of them swam to stay in shape for water polo and did well in competition," she said.

"Swimming is a hard sport and it is unusual for a swimmer to combine swimming with other sports," she added.

Even though they competed at the frosh-soph level, the frosh-soph swimmers worked towards the day when they can compete at the varsity level.

Varsity Tennis Competes Well

By Jennifer Aust

The boys' tennis team was in a very strong Bay League and it found the competition very tough.

"Palos Verdes, Rolling Hills, South, Santa Monica and Mira Costa all had great teams this year and we benefited from the experience of playing so many excellent players," said coach Jim Ball.

The team was led by two seniors, Scott Murray, Mike Sheldon, and a junior, Darren White. These three players were the most experienced. The other juniors were Ravi Vora, Chris Flanagan and Bernard Widman. The sophomores with great potential were Todd Hall, Benton Shaely, Chris Devaney.

"There will be a few players moving up to the varsity team," stated Nei? Polaske, coach.

Team members put forth a lot of effort during the season. They were hard-working and gave it their all.

Varsity Girls Run In Bay League

By Paul Bishop

The girls' varsity track team moved into the Bay League this year. The move, along with the addition of Gregg Fucci, brought about a new look for the team.

Fucci, the new head coach, strived for a more successful year. "I think Mr. Fucci has done a good job, but he needed more help" explained Robyn Watson, sophomore sprinter.

The team got off to a slow start, but runners turned out good performances. "I thought the season was going to be disappointing, but it turned out being full of spirit and excitement," stated Gina Kang, senior, middle distance runner.

Varsity season turned out well, with competitiveness and spirit abound according to girls track members. "The team was highly motivated by the move to Bay League," explained Fucci. The fine performances by varsity runners provided motivation for the underclassmen.

The season was greatly impaired by sickness and injuries, "Illness and injuries hurt the team and slowed us down," said Ursula Wiljanen, junior long-distance runner

The fact that Fucci was new to the school and that before coming to RUHS he had coached in an all-boys school, made for a different experience. Fucci came to Redondo only two weeks before the first meet. This slowed the team down even more.

Despite the many slowdowns, the team performed competitively in this new league and has high hopes for the future.

The girls hoped to contend more competitively with powerhouse schools such as Palos Verdes. With returning underclassmen and healthier athletes, the team hoped to become a strong contender in the Bay League.

Girls' Track 133

J.V. Hurdles Obstacles In Bay League

By Paul Bishop

The j.v. girls' track team had many new challenges this year. There were several changes to deal with in this season. The move to the Bay League matched the girls against tougher and more competitive schools. Another change this year was in the form of a new head coach, Greg Fucci. Fucci had coached an all boys' school prior to coming to RUHS, This brought about changes for both himself and Redondo.

New and inexperienced girls running on the team for the first time, along side veteran runners brought about a special need for team unity. "The more experienced runners helped the newcomers to acquire more easily, the skills they needed for a winning team." explained Heather Battershall, senior.

The j.v. team was impaired by small numbers and injuries. There were several girls that missed running in important meets due to illness or injury. Without enough girls on the team, there were no replacements for anyone who could not run.

The j.v. team overcame the difficulties that stood in their way and attained moderate success in this new, more competitive league. "The team kept its spirit high, even in defeat," stated Heather Battershall. This spirit, which kept the team going, helped pull the runners through the season with successful results.

The team turned out several good performances. Standouts on the j.v. team included Kari Elliott and Areatha Vees. The girls have hopes for next year. With several returning runners, the team hopes it might become a stronger contender in the Bay League. With more confidence and experience, the returning girls should prove to be true contenders in the Bay League in the future.

By Heather Battershall

The boys' varsity track team was small but not lacking in energy and the willingness to strive for perfection.

by demolishing Rolling Hills in only the second official meet. Although Palos Verdes and Mira Costa were a little tougher to beat, the team members didn't let it get them down. They worked even harder. The players had a great ability to work hard together and tighten the reins when they got down to the serious competition.

The main players were Paul Juengling, Anthony Jongejan and Scott Nankervis. These guys helped the team strive for perfection, but they couldn't have done it alone. They needed the whole team to make them all winners.

The team's overall expectations were to strive for the CIF playoffs. The team proved to be a definite contender.

Coach Fucci expressed his great admiration and confidence in the team. He said, "They are all winners."

JV Sprints To Finish

By Heather Battershall

Getting off to a solid and dynamite start, the boys j.v. track team had a lot of energy and competitiveness to burn off.

The team was strong and willing to compete to its fullest capacity. Team members proved that by beating Rolling Hills. The two teams that proved to be difficult for them were Mira Costa and Palos Verdes, but that only motivated them to work harder.

The main players were Mike Hoffman, Jeff Elliott, and Steve Beitzel.

These players were a great asset to the team, and were definite contenders for the varsity team next year.

One major change that the track team underwent was receiving a new coach. Greg Fuccl seemed to move in and adjust beautifully. He did a wonderful job of coaching the j.v. team as well as the rest of the track team. He also did a good job of pulling out the members' strong and competitive qualities in order to produce a winning team.

Hitters Excell In 4A League

By Noel Graves

"We had a lot of really good talent on the team this year, and we were in a tougher league, but we did as well as expected," stated Julie Groff, coach.

One of the biggest assets to the team was Deedee Haugh, senior, who has played the position of shortstop since girls softball was rejuvinated in 1983.

When the season began, the biggest problem was finding a pitcher, because of the noneligibility of students without a minimum of a 2.0 grade point average. Because of the suspension of the 2.0
minimum, the players returned and helped to contribute to the many victories of the varsity team.

New Coach Helps Out J.V.

By Noel Graves

Having fun and winning was what the j.v. softball team was all about. "Even though the coach was tough on us sometimes, I think it was worth it because we learned a lot," said Kim Fencher, freshman.

The main change in the team this year was that there was much more organization, compared to the past.

Coached by Jim St. Hilaire, the j.v. team improved greatly from the start of the season due to confidence and hard work. "The girls have worked hard and they deserve to win because they all work together as a team," said St. Hilaire.

The team had a very good year for being so young and having such inexperience. It will be helping out the varsity team in '86.

Varsity Spikes For Success

By Heather Battershall

The boys' varsity volleyball team members kept on striving for the best. They didn't let anything throw them off course or get in their way, through the whole season.

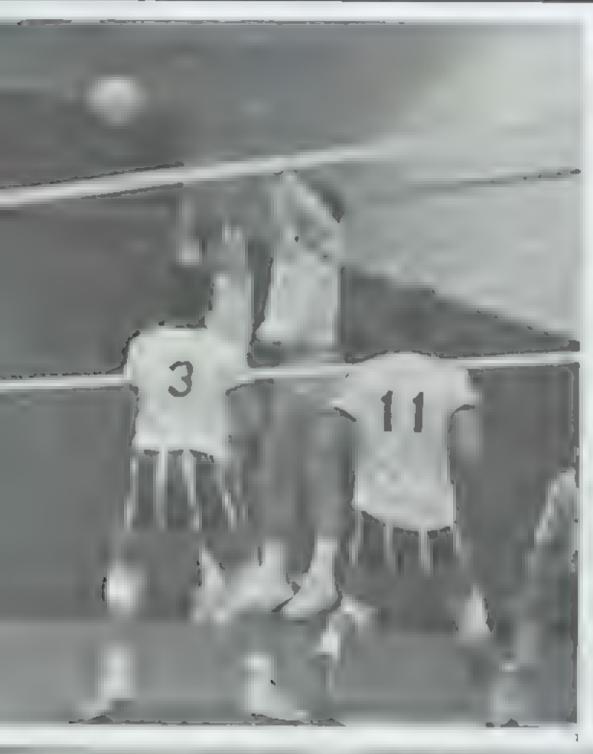

Coach Steve Shaw said,
"I am pleased with the team's accomplishments. I feel that the quality of the players this year is really good." The teams that proved to be the toughest for Redondo were Santa Monica, Palos Verdes and, of course, Mira Costa.

Shaw said, "The team's over-all goal was to make the CIF playoffs." Coach Shaw also stated the team didn't have a lot of experience as a varsity team, although his expectations were still high.

The star players this year were Ross Boelson, who happened to be the only returning varsity member; Jason Willer, who displayed his dynamite talent as the team's setter; and Carl Snyder. The sportsmanship on the team was really strong because the players were good friends on the court as well as off.

6. MAINTAINING GOOD CON-TROL—the player blocks the ball from the opposing team

By Heather Battershall

The boys' j.v. volleyball team was very well equipped for a successful season. The quality of the players this year was really good and the teammanship was definitely alive and well.

The over-all goal which the team wanted to meet was making it to the CIF playoffs.

One encouraging thought about the j.v. team is that many of the star players on the team will go directly to the varsity team next year. The main players this year were Mike Sousa and Chris Miller. These guys helped support and make the team stronger and more successful.

The expectations for the team's success was very high this season. The teams that proved to be the toughest were Mira Costa, Palos Verdes and Santa Monica. But In the over-all spectrum, the team did very well.

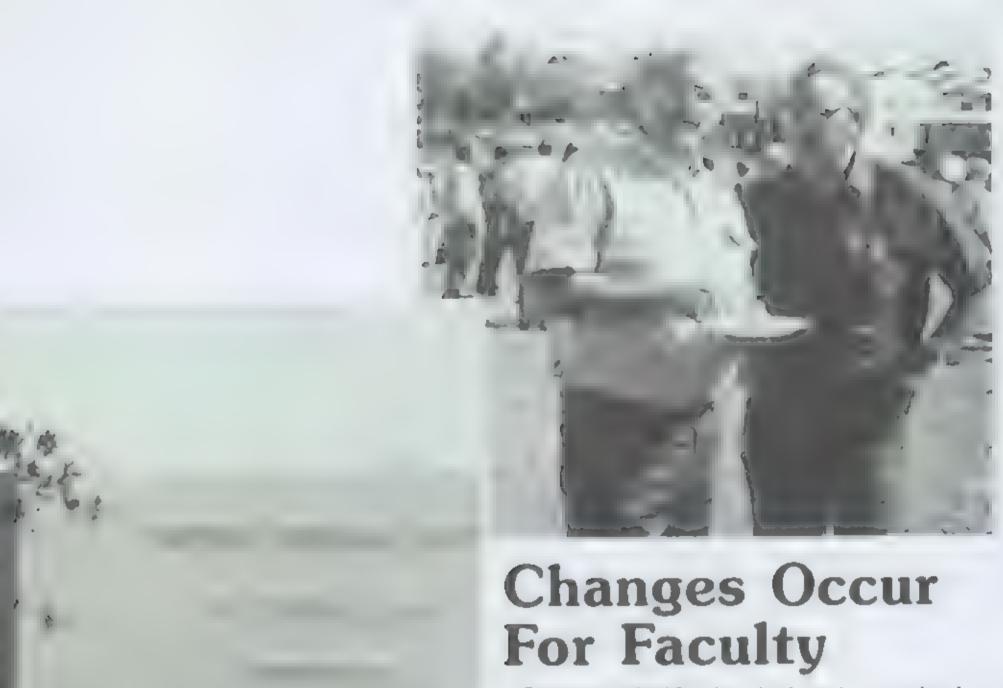

Lenny La Rocca stated he was extremely proud of the boys' accomplishments and their hard work. He felt that the team was number one.

Everyone waited for the final step in the sale of Aviation. Faculty members wanted a much-deserved raise. Parents wanted new and better books for their children. Finally, there was the debt the district owed the student body for sponsoring extra-curricular activities.

Until then, teachers received an increase for the (five days and thirteen minutes a day) longer year mandated by Senate Bill 813. The same increase for the administration, however, had not been approved at press time. The administration had only received a "trade-off" increase for decreasing their medical benefits. This had not been approved for the teachers either.

Other changes took place in the faculty. New teachers were hired, while Dorothy Duley and Richard McIntosh retired. But, one of the biggest surprises was the resignation of frustrated principal Jerry Goddard, who asked to return to the classroom at the semester. His succesor was Gerald Davis from Rowland Heights School District.

Artists Attain Success

By Ursula Wiljanen

The Performing Arts Department, which consisted of Band, Band Auxiliary, Guitar, Chorus, Stage Crew, Video Productions, and Drama, worked mainly towards creating productions both to entertain and to give arts students the experience needed if they plan on pursuing a career in the performing arts field, according to Paul Collette, drama instructor. But anyone who was active in the arts program could tell you that these productions took a lot of hard work and extra time.

The "combined effort" productions of the year was the spring musical, "Sweet Charity," which featured all aspects of the Performing Arts Department.

The changes in the department this year were the addition of the campus theatre and the addition of another drama instructor, Rick Boal, to work with Collette.

 PREPARING FOR AUDITIONS — Kenny Barr, junior, studies a script before tryouts in the campus theatre.

FREEZE! ... OKAY ... — Paul Collette, drama instructor, leads his Beginning Drama class in an exercise.

3. ARTISTS AT WORK — Carrie Olsen, senior, and Kelly Lemons, junior, advanced drama students, prepare for the winter play

 KEEPING THE RHYTHM — Wendy O'Daniels, Chad Johnson, and Karl Kaneen, sophomores, perform during halftime at the Sea Hawk Bowl

 "WE'RE GONNA DIE!" — Wini Ladd, senior, participates in the powerful drama "Kaleidescope," one of the three one-act plays in the winter production "Collage a Trois."

 "... REALLY NOT INTERESTED!" — Chris Tweitmann and Mat Colegrove, freshmen, play two guys trying to pick up on Beth Willis, freshman, and Mitzi Moxley, sophomore, in a drama skit.

Business Department Soars To Excellence

By Heather Battershall

This year's Business Department was very strong and offered many challenging classes in the field. Some of the classes that were offered ranged from basic business classes, such as typing, shorthand and accounting, to the more advanced business classes like computer programming and advanced accounting.

Al Brown has been the head of the Business Department for three years.

There are six teachers who comprise the business department: Al Brown, Jayne Kawakami, Vince Robbio, Karen Westburg and Bob Wobbrock. All of these teachers work hard and are devoted to their Job.

One example of their expended efforts is Brown's great organization and enthusiasm in running the student store. Kawakami also put in her time and energy to make the successful club of the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) run smoothly.

Another prospering angle of the Business Department is Southern California Regional Occupational Center (SCROC). It offers many challenging and rewarding trades in the business field, such as computer programming and advanced secretarial training.

- WATCHING OVER STUDENT David Clark, senior, Vince Robbio helps him figure a typing problem.
- BURNING UP THE KEYS The advanced typing class tries to type as much as they can within the period.
- SMILING SWEETLY Gina Witeshield senior, stops typing for a quick picture and a little break
- A FEW HELPFUL HINTS from Jayne Kawakami makes the typing problem seem a lot easier.
- LOOKING VERY PRETTY Karen Westburg lectures to her business classes.
- KICKING BACK IN CLASS Robert Wobbrock attempts to read a book
- AL BROWN explains an accounting lesson to his class.

SCROC, Computers Instruct

By Gene Benda and Terri Clifford

For students planning a future and preparing themselves for a good job, SCROC is the place to go to get ahead.

SCROC, which means Southern California Regional Occupational Center, has been serving the South Bay Area since 1968.

Many students, from schools such as Lennox, Hawthorne, Inglewood, Leuzinger, Mira Costa, Redondo, the Torrance District, Palos Verdes, Rolling Hills and Miraleste, go to SCROC to take classes that will give them skills in the job that they want to pursue.

There are such classes as office occupations, retail merchandising, computer programming, graphics, health services, cosmetology, electronics, metal and construction.

The SCROC program is presented to U.S. history classes. To be in SCROC a student must be at least a junior. The program is free for high school students.

If students take SCROC during school, they get 15 credits a semester and 10 credits during the summer. Each class runs approximately three hours long.

Some occupational training took place on the Redondo campus. Computers have been taught since the program was brought over from Aviation three years ago.

Bob Wobbrock taught Pascal and there were a few changes he would like to have seen. He felt that women should at least look into the field of computers and try it before they decide it is a field for men. Wonbrock thought that it would be to the students' advantage to take Pascal before starting Basic.

The computer department consisted of Apple II Plus and II E computers. The department hopes to expand its resources in future years.

- ANY CAR PROBLEMS?—Taking SCROC you can learn how to repair your car Pete Klein, senior, looks over an old car
- 2 TIGHTENING THE BOLT—George Barks, junior, learns all the tricks to repair automobiles
- LEARNING ABOUT GRAPHICS—Is Cindy Cooper, juntor
- COMPUTERS IN PUBLICATIONS—One of these days we will have to face that if we can't run a computer we will die. High Tide is dependent on its computer. Sunce Zeitz, senior, strangles the High Tide editor, Kerry O'Shea, senior
- 5 SCROC OFFERS COMPUTER TRAINING—Mario Martinez, Junior, takes part in the computer programming course offered at SCROC
- 6 STRETCHING THEIR NECKS—Nicole Rutan, senior, and Lorraine Kuzma, senior, take a one-minute socializing break.

English Department Sets Goals

By Asa Traskelin

With the addition of eight new teachers, the English Department started off the new year by offering two new classes in composition for the beginning, intermediate and advanced students. "An on-going goal is to develop a two-level English curriculum which basically parallels the objective for the level 1 program," stated Diane Brown - department person.

The department was given money from the state to purchase additional textbooks, although more books are still needed. With an unlimited sum of money the English Department would buy more texts to provide the students with books to take home and enable them to study literature chronologically. The department would also like to employ more teachers and thereby provide smaller classes.

Since the class sizes for many teachers were still quite large, the teachers often felt frustrated about not being able to assign and correct enough written work to help the students Improve their writing skills.

According to Brown, students seemed to be taking the developmental vocabulary program quite seriously and asked for help with grammar. "The English requirements at the high school and college level have increased. Criticism of teaching has often focused on inadequate college preparation.

"Being handicapped by large class sizes and insufficient books and materials, the teachers did all that was humanly possible to meet the needs of the students. The success of the students, of course, is the most important concern of English teachers here at Redondo," concluded Brown.

Fine Arts Department

By Cathy Fisher

The Fine Arts department does many different things that help out the school. Last year they painted the murals that are on all the buildings you see while walking down the main hall-way. This year they hope to do some more clean-up, art work. The students in Ron Cooper's class say that they have done a lot of very interesting work and plan to maybe pursue a career in the field of fine arts.

Both teachers in the Fine Arts Department have a lot of experience and love their jobs very much.

The Art Department has grown every year and will continue to grow for many years to come. In art class you have a lot of time to yourself. This gives you time to think and talk to your friends. Sharing your ideas on different art subjects and other various things will help to ease your mind.

The two teachers in the fine Arts department were Jack McClain and Ron Cooper. They both have been around for many years and plan to be around for many years to come.

- TAKING IT SERIOUSLY Ron Cooper, art teacher, takes each class period one at a time.
- THE FINE ARTS This is an example of the painting the art classes do that improve the school.
- 3. HARD AT WORK Boots Coyoca, junior, works hard to get his work done on time

- DISCUSSING THEIR WORK Mark Belliveau, junior; Carol Diaz, Camille Burgess, and Cathy Fisher, seniors; talk things over before they start their new projects.
- 6. ON THE JOB Camille Burgess, senior, strives for an "A"
- 7. MY TIME OFF Jack McClain enjoys an outdoor activity.

Foreign Language Expands

By Cathy Fisher

Foreign Language was a very important department on campus. Spanish and French were taught at various levels. The beginning level was level one-two with the highest level being level seven-eight.

There was an increase in the number of students taking a foreign language this year. The department boasted approximately 800 students and expected to see the program grow even larger, probably because taking a foreign language has become a requirement to get into most major universities.

The Foreign Language staff added a new member to its crew: Linda Fowler, who taught both French and Spanish.

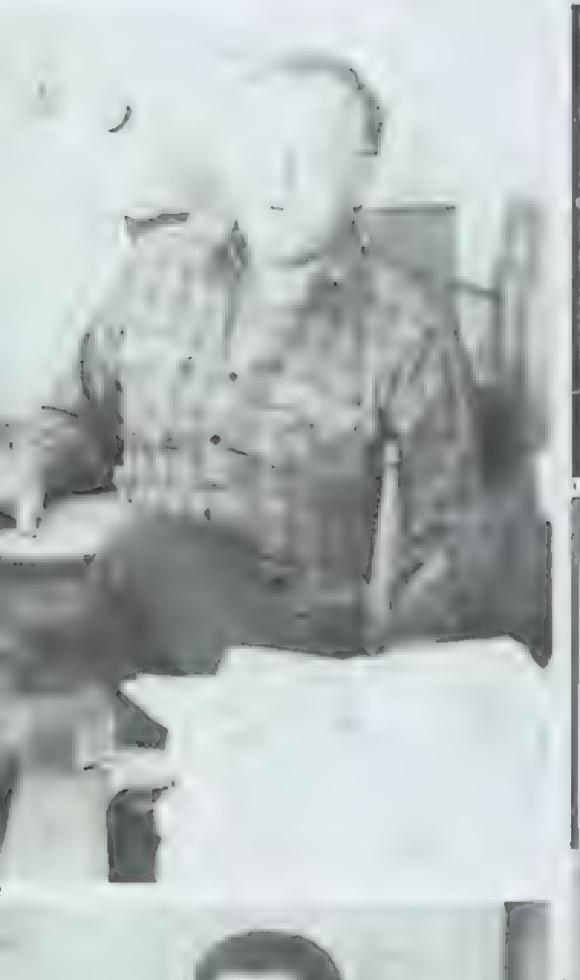

Various clubs were rooted in the Foreign Language Department this year, including Spanish Club for beginning Spanish students and Cervantes for the honors Spanish students.

For French students there was the French Club and the National Honor society.

The department head, Jim Walker, has been the chairman for three years now and enjoys it very much. He taught Spanish throughout the day, and in his first period class he taught some eighth graders, which was "good public relations," according to Walker.

- 1 ANOTHER HARD DAY—Linda Fowler teaches both Spanish and French.
- 2 TAKING A BREAK—Jim Walker rests a moment before tackling the Spanish language.
- 3. READY TO EAT—Kathryn Tanny prepares food for hungry customers
- 4. HAVING A MEETING—Bonnie Cohn works hard with the students.
- 5. FLUENTLY SPEAKING TEACHER—Mario Ortiz teaches Spanish and loves it.
- 6. OFF TO PARIS—Kim Hainsworth, senior, plans her trip to a foreign land.
- 7. YOU WANT ME?—Mr. Philleo takes some time out to talk to a student.

Experience For Work Pays Off

By Nonie Graves

Together, advisers J.T. Ball and Bob Paulson have made a more beneficial work experience program.

Ball explained the basics of the program, "It allows a student to work and continue progress toward graduation."

One of the only changes in the program is the consistency in making sure that each student receives five units of credit per semester. In the past, each student only received full semester credit if the job the student was employed in pertained to a class in which the student was enrolled.

Many students need to work to support their car or family, or they work because they would like the extra cash needed for outside activities and extras that aren't provided by the family.

Students find the program a salutary way to earn money and credit for working. As Sandra Burns, a senior work experience student, stated, "It's a great way for me to get credit at school while I'm working."

There are many requirements for high school graduation. Among them are driver's education and health combined.

Many students are enrolled not only because they have to be, but because they want to be.

Half of the semester is spent learning about driver's education, the rules of the road and how to handle certain situations. The second quarter is health, involving drugs, alcohol, nutrition and other essential basics of the course.

Both were taught by Onig Dadian and William Reed, head of the department.

HERE COME GRADES — Students anxiously await for the return

BE VERY QUIET — Drivers Ed./ Health class listens while Onig Dadian lectures.

Home Ec. Not For Girls Only

By Sunny Limuti

Home economics Isn't just cooking and sewing. It's fashion design, food and nutrition, parenting and child care, adult living and interior design.

Students in home economics didn't just learn basic skills. In some cases students used their own imagination and got rather creative.

"Students do learn basic skills that are helpful in life, but they also learn about relationships and nutrition," explained Neva Powell, teacher.

One complaint about these classes was that because of the increase in graduation requirements, the interest in these courses really declined, according to Powell.

Not only are these courses important for future life, but according to Powell, these classes can be rather important in life right now.

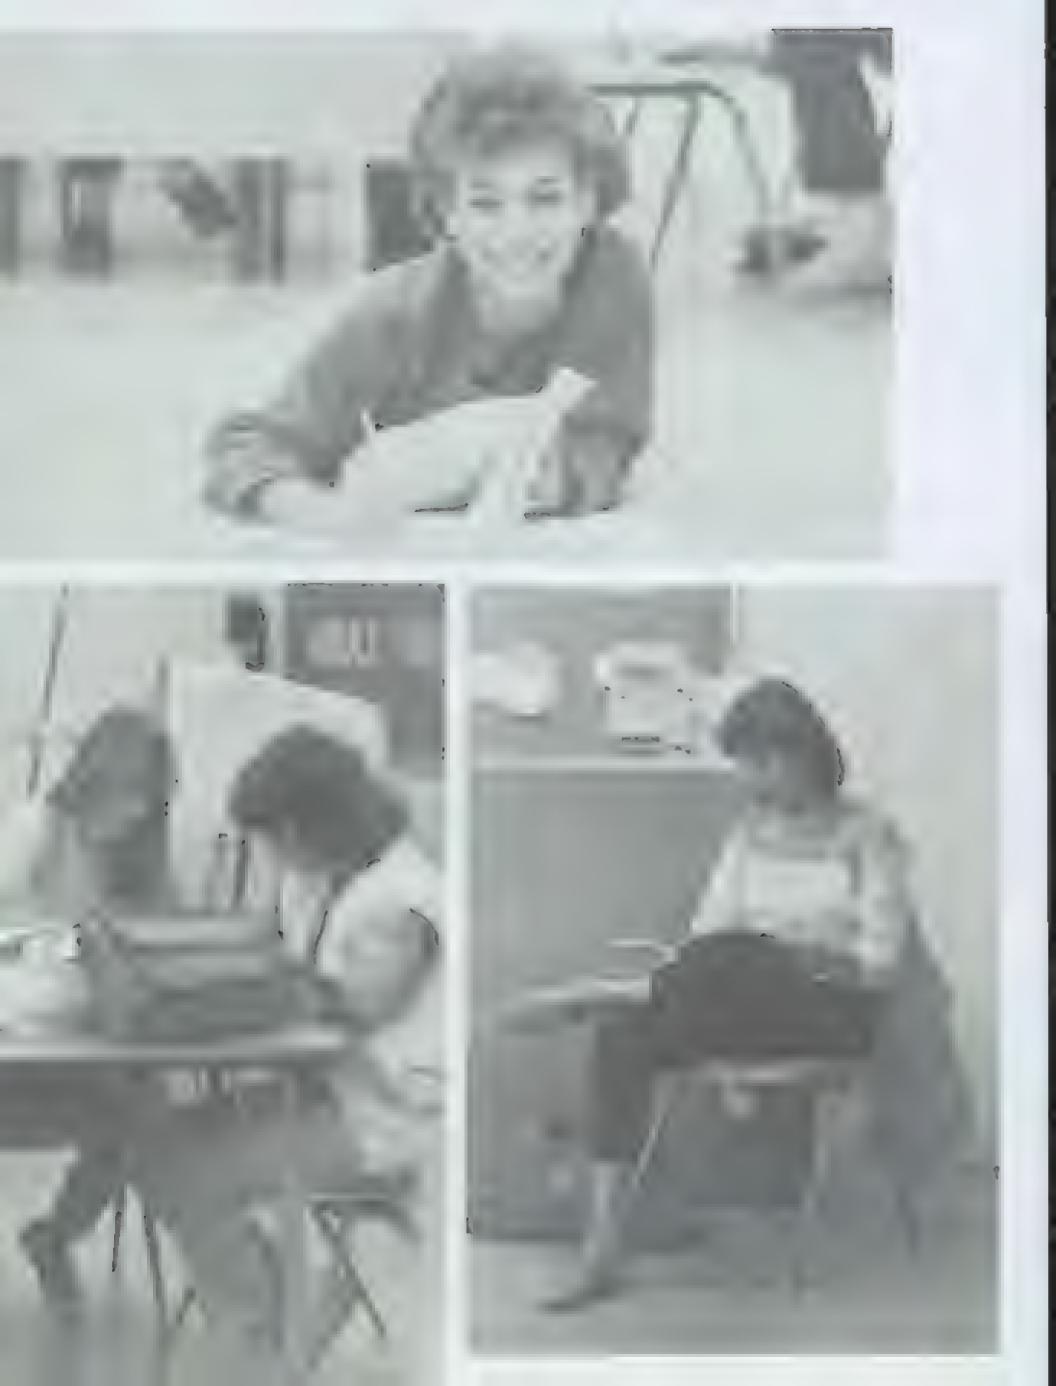

"Home economics isn't just for girls. We have a lot of interest from boys too. In many cases, boys make up one-half to three-fourths of the class," said Powell. "I really incourage all students to take one of these classes during high school," she concluded.

- 1. HARD AT WORK-Two students their class work.
- COMPLETING THEIR ASSIGNMENT -Vincent Dorn and Lee Lucus finish up their work before the end of class.
- 3. TAKING IT EASY-Denise McKendall, finishing up his work.
- 4. READING A MAGAZINE- Barbara Agnew, takes time out to read the latest edition.
- 5. LEARNING ABOUT LIFE- Sandy Bates and a friend help each other out.
- 6. PREPARING FOR TEST- Micky looks over her notes.

Industrial Arts Teach Skills

By Paul Bishop

Since the graduation requirement went up to 230 credits, enrollment in the industrial arts program has dropped considerably. The fact that sophomores just don't have room in their schedule for industrial arts plays a significant roll in the drop-off in enrollment. Sophomores are forced to give up their electives and take classes such as biology in place of them. Outside of woodshop, enrollment in classes such as drafting is close to non-existent. The main reason woodshop's enrollment is not affected is because incoming freshmen took the class in junior high school and want to continue.

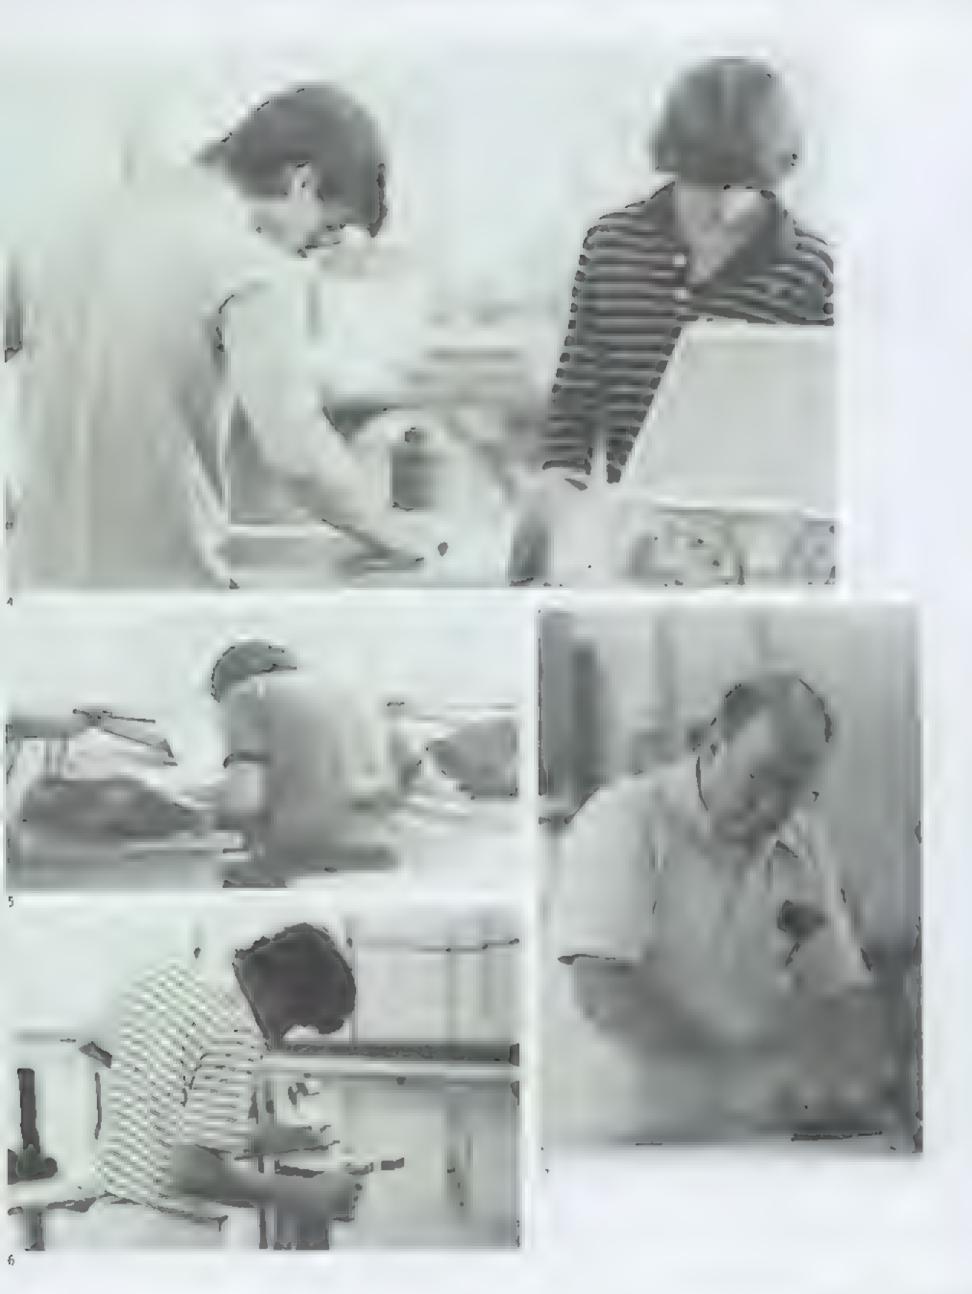

Being that industrial arts classes teach skills that are important in life, it is unfortunate that the enrollment in these classes is so low. "Drafting teaches valuable skills that are necessary in almost any profession," stated Tom Lemley, woodshop teacher. Most students interested in industrial arts take the class in their freshman year, but are forced to drop it as a sophomore. "Most students in the industrial arts classes are freshmen, juniors, and seniors," mentioned Joe Friebel, department head. One of the factors keeping enrollment up in electronics is that students receive physical science credit for taking the class.

The industrial arts program teaches skills that are important in most lines of work. Drafting alone teaches skills pertaining to architecture, mechanics, science, and even medicine. Programs such as S.C.R.O.C. help to boost enrollment.

"The SCROC classes in autoshop and printing are running close to their maximum," explained Joe Friebel, industrial arts classes teach valuable and important information needed in every day life.

Math Department Expands

By Paul Bishop

Faculty In the Math Department was widely varied with new teachers from Aviation High School and returning teachers from Redondo. "We had a strong department, with cooperation from the entire faculty," stated George Mays, department head. To give the math program a boost, Jerry Goddard, principal, purchased all new books for college requirement, students were required to take three years of mathematical subjects, this requirement increased enrollment in almost all math classes.

With enrollment up and higher level classes in demand, the Math Department was expanding. More calculus and higher level classes were being offered. More will be offered in the future as demand increases. The Math Department is looking forward to C.A.I. computer assisted instruction, in the classroom. The faculty is looking forward, with much enthusiasm, to advancing and expanding their department.

Conditioning Becomes P.E. Dept. Focus

By Jennifer Aust

"With the quality of the staff and their desire to offer an excellent program of physical education to the students, the P.E. department is developing into an outstanding department," said Steve Shaw, P.E. teacher.

The new physical fitness awards changed the P.E. classes into conditioning classes, for life and fitness. Each class did a section of conditioning which included running, weight lifting and aerobics.

"The new conditioning program did help because we didn't get any new equipment," said Michele Fink, sophomore.

This program still left time to do the other activities such as volleyball, tennis, soccer and basketball.

"I think physical education is important because you should know how to keep your body in shape. That's why I enjoy teaching it." said Shaw.

Science Sees New Faces

By Tonya Sorenson

The Science Department had to adjust to many changes with the addition of three new teachers: Carolyn Murphey, who taught biology; Don Morrow, who taught chemistry and biology; and Ray Gilman, who taught photography.

"Morrow gave us a much-needed boost In expertise and enthusiasm," said Mark Rubke, Science Department head.

However, the department still had a lot of old books. "The Science Department is badly under-funded," said Rubke.

1. GOT IT MADE - Paul Drissel, junior, has all of his biology notes together.

2. HARD AT WORK - Don Morrow, biology teacher, gets everyone working, including himself.

3. GETTING SET UP - George Mays, science teacher, gets ready for a project.

5. FIVE MORE MINUTES - Mr. Gilman cleans up before the bell rings.

6. LET ME SEE - Don Morrison, science teacher, searches for his pen.

7. READING TIME — Harry Dinnel, science teacher, takes time out to go over a chapter.

8. THAT'S A WHAT? - Mark Rubke, head of the Science Department, points out that their drawing was from the wrong page.

9. THE ART OF LEACHING - David Leach explains the homework to the class.

10. ANOTHER LECTURE — Science students listen to and take notes from another lecture.

11. PERFECT SMILE - Don Morrow, biology teacher, smiles at the perfect grades his students are getting.

History-A Building Process

By Ursula Williamen

"The social science program is set up as a building process," explained Richard McIntosh, U.S. history teacher.

This 'building process' determined the schedule each student has had to follow: geography and ancient history as a freshman, world history as a sophomore, U.S. history as a junior, and American government as a senior. When a student advanced to the higher levels, a basic background to supplement the more centralized material was essential, according to McIntosh.

One of the unique aspects of the Social Science Department was that only the basic classes-freshman geography and sophomore world history-were separated into levels. The reason for this, according to McIntosh, was that the more centralized studies of American history and government should be taught in the same manner and with the same amount of material since "they don't separate you at the voting polls,"

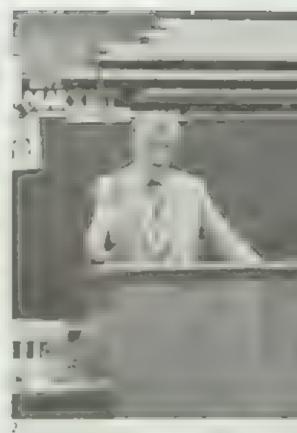

The 800 building, initially harboring only junior and senior U.S. history and government classes, was built specifically for and to that purpose. Large rooms divided in two by a curtain divider were built to the purpose of 'team teaching,' more commonly known as 'large groups.' Supplementing lectures with visual illustrations on a triple screen helped to portray history as a "giant, wonderful story" according to McIntosh.

"McIntrash" Retires After Over 30 Years

Mr. Richard McIntosh. after having taught in this district for 32 years, retlred at the conclusion of the fall semester in January.

McIntosh started out as a teacher at Mira Costa High School (he and Mr. Roy were the first senior class sponsors) in 1952. Five years later, upon returning from a business trip, he was temporarily positioned at RUHS until there was a lob offering at MCHS, However, when he was offered a position as chairperson of his department at MCHS, he decided that Redondo was where he wanted to be, and declined the position.

Their loss has been our gain. We will miss you, Mr. McIntosh, and your infamous "Mointrash Productions" large groups and your sardonic humor. Thank you for all that you have given RUHS!

Program Prepares Pupils

By Noel Graves

Individualism is the basis upon which the Special Education Department is structured. Each student receives individual instruction so that every student can work at his/her own level and pace for better learning and understanding.

A beneficial experience for the students is the Work-Ability Program, which is funded by the state. This helps special-need students prepare for future jobs. As a tryout employment, juniors and seniors are placed on a job for up to 180 hours receiving minimum wage.

This gives students experience at a job that lets them know what it is like to work for an employer, it also lets them learn skills that could help them toward a career. "All of the teachers and aides are enthusiastic and supportive of the program. Because of this, we are able to offer special-need students an outstanding educational program," explained Larry Boyd, head of the department.

Library And Center Serve Students

By Jennifer Aust

The Career Center and the Library were places that offered students help in high school and their daily life.

Alma Hazzard, Career Center Director, provided information to help us make decisions and to help us set our goals.

"I provided a College Fair that had eighty-seven college representatives, and over 2,000 people attended to expose themselves to the future," said Hazzard.

"Career Center helps you get jobs and lets you find out what you want to do in your life," said Junior Anne Grovier, Career Center aide.

The library is also a very busy and helpful facility.

"We have approximately 6,500 students come in the library every month and 125 classes a month," said Pat Francis, librarian.

The library offered students the use of books and magazines in their daily life.

"Mrs. Hazzard and I worked closely together and feel that we got a lot done for students and teachers," said Francis.

Maintenance And Cafeteria Workers Do Their Jobs

By Cathy Fisher

The cafeteria workers tried their best to please everyone with a larger menu. They served the students at snack and at lunch. The staff was 25 members strong this year.

"We are just one big happy family down here," stated Karen Dillinger. The main goal in the cafeteria was to serve nutritional food that the students would enjoy. The staff worked from 8 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. preparing meals for the students to eat.

Jessie Martinez, senior, said, "The cafeteria food this year was outstanding and I couldn't make It through the day without it." Dorothy Stlley was in charge of making things work in the cafeteria.

Keeping the campus clean is what it's all about for maintenance workers. The groundsmen have their job cut out for them. On campus there were 14 groundsmen and foreman Richard Schramm. The breakdown of the 14 workers was five custodians, three groundsmen, two gardeners, three gym custodians, and Sandy Barlett, who works out of the girls' gym as an equipment manager.

The groundsmen do other things besides keeping the campus clean. They set up for all the extra events that go on around campus." The campus has to be kept up at all times during the year, and with the staff I have we can do It," stated Schramm.

Secretaries Strive For Perfection

By Heather Battershall

Can you imagine if secretaries weren't here? The whole school would be in complete chaos. We must give them a big hand because we couldn't make it without them.

People may think that secretaries have an easy job, but they really don't. Their jobs range from typing lettes and answering phones to keep all of the administrators in line so that they can meet their important deadlines.

The relationships that the secretaries have with the students is really great. Shirley Nemecek said, "I like my job because I like working with the students. I think that people should hear more positive things about the students instead of negative things,"

The school year seemed to get off to a good start, and things seemed to run along smoothly. Theima Stade commented, "One of the best things we have going is the kids. I missed them over the summer. I'm glad to see the kids when school starts again."

- WHAT IS NEXT? Bertie Forst tries to decide what her next project will be
- 2. WORKING VERY HARD Shirley Nemecek keeps the attendance office running smoothly
- ON THE PHONE Organizing the sports information keeps Dee Hugoboom very busy
- 4. WILL RE-ADMITS END? Probably not, but Barbara Rude continues to write a ton of them every day
- VERY BUSY SCHEDULES Secretaries shown are Celia Gomez, Rosalee McCarrell, Scottie O'Brien, Fudge Komura, Bertie Forst, Mabel Alexander, Thelma Stade, and Irene Yelich
- OTHERS WHO SERVE June McClaine, Shirley Nemecek, and Shirley Gau, the school nurse.
- OUT TO LUNCH Celia Gomez and Louise Burrows come back from a leisurely funchbreak
- 8. WHAT A TEAM Rosalee McCarrell and Thelma Stade keep the counseling office in order and very organized.

Management Decides On Big Changes

By Sunny Limuti

Many changes came to the administration this year. Counselor Dorothy Duley retired to bring in the new counselor Hank Manzo. Vice-principal Sue Crane taught only one period of senior English so she could spend more time in her role as viceprincipal. Robert Paulson resigned as football coach in 1984 and became the new Athletic Director along with Les Congelliere.

But the biggest change and surprise within the administration was the resignation of Principal Jerry Goddard. He announced his decision in the middle of the first semester, surprising everyone.

This surprise was followed by a greater shock when he announced that he would go back to teaching in the classroom. Goddard took over Richard MacIntosh's U.S. History classes at the semester when MacIntosh retired. Not only were there Job changes among the administration, but new things were also tried. A dialer called parents if a student was absent, and a tardy sweep along with more campus narcs kept us all in line. With its many changes, the administration was a hardworking group who kept the students at Redondo working hard, too.

Learn How To Fly

Picture freshman registration day with 700 soon-to-be ninth graders standing in long lines not knowing what awaits them when they reach the front, and most of them looking hopelessly lost.

Sound familiar? It should. Recall the awfulness of just starting out, not knowing what you're doing, getting lost because you're too embarrassed to ask someone, getting shoved out of lunch lines, and called a "freshman scum."

But despite all the flack you freshmen had to put up with in your first year of high school. you've found that freshman year did serve a purpose. It laid the foundation for the next three years of high school.

During freshman year, you started climbing the ladder and eventually worked your way up into new opportunities as the year went on. New friends and sometimes older friends in "higher places" encouraged you, and by the end of your freshman year, your feet were firmly enough placed on the ground for you to be ready to enter SOPHOMORE YEAR.

Let's hope the class of '88 has had a terrific year of fun and learning experiences, and that they're now ready to fly up and away into the "pre-sophomore"

Sophomore Year-A Big Step Up

Sophomore year could easily be nicknamed "the middle ages." Sophomores weren't quite at the bottom of the ladder or very high up it. They were stuck somewhere near the middle.

Their status on campus was much better, to say the least, and they had earned the undeniable right to make the freshmen miserable. But sophomores were still one step below Upperclassmanism, so they still, for the most part, played second fiddle.

However, there were many opportunities open to sophomores that were not open to freshmen. Many electives gave priority to older students who had had certain prerequisite classes. Sophomores who took those advanced classes as freshmen were eligible for those classes this year.

Sophomore year was also a year of decision making — sort of a transition period. It was this year as tenth graders that grades and courses really started counting for college. The courses sophomores chose helped to shape their potential future. The extracurriculars that sophomores became involved in affected their course of direction in the same way.

It was also easier for sophomores to become involved in school. Sophomores commanded as much respect as they proved they deserved, and there were quite a few sophomores holding positions of responsibility in clubs and organizations this year.

All in all, the class of '87 has to agree that sophomore year may not be the best, but it sets you off in the right direction—up and away!

Class Of '86 Spirit Rides High

Junior year. What did that mean for you? Being able to drive, work a steady job, and make money? Being able to strut across the campus with the attitude, "back off, I'm an upperclassman!"?

Whether it was the superiority that came with the title, or the larger amount of opportunities that opened for juniors, most juniors rejoiced to be near the top of the ladder, at last.

This was the year the class of '86 could command high positions in clubs and organizations, play varsity on the sports teams, get leads in school plays, and argue politics with Mr. McIntosh in U.S. history! This was the year that we could go to the Prom without having to get a date who was a junior or senior, and have the option of buying a junior class ring, and vote in our history classes for the presidential election! This was it, the fun, the riding-high spirit that really makes the class of '86 spirit soar up and away!

But along with all the good times that came with being a junior, the pressure gained momentum with the fun. Grades became increasingly important; classes became increasingly hard. College, or a working career, didn't seem quite as far off as before. If a junior was involved in many activities, the pressure of responsibility was turned on high.

But all these things point to two things: maturity, and experiences that will help you with many fantastic memories of your junior year as a member of the class of '86.

Senior Sea Hawks Show Spirit In Eighty-Five

After three long years of both successes and failures, we're finally seniors. We're not just any seniors, though. We're the RUHS class of eighty five.

As underclassmen we knew that a school would have to be closed and saw Aviation High closed down by the school board. We then fused together from two smaller flocks of Falcons and Sea Hawks to one bigger and stronger flock of Sea Hawks. We also saw Jerry Goddard succeed L'Cena Rice as principal.

We began to take charge, being in prominent positions in clubs and other activities. Many of us also got jobs and driver's licenses.

Now as seniors, we know that having spirit makes a difference. We also became familiar with those dreaded threelettered tests- SAT, ACH, or ACT.

We spent money on announcements, pictures, the prom, senior ditch day, renting our caps and gowns, and finally on Grad Night.

But we also had to live through November first, when many took college tests and hoped we really had learned. We had the whole month to turn in applications, but how many of us ran to the post office at the last minute?

As the end of the year came, we realized just how much we have grown. We also realized that all these years were worth it.

New Life Club Celebrates 35th Year

The RUHS New Life Club is a lifestyle on campus dedicated to the values and purposes of God as found in the Bible. We believe that God cares about us and can help us in our everyday lives. We look to the Bible for guidance and strength to face everyday difficulties.

In 1950, A. L. Young, Redondo principal, Mr. Bruebaker and Mr. Misenhimer, teachers, were the people who founded the first "Bible Club" on campus. Sept. 19th, 1950, Mr. A. L. Young dedicated a Gideon Bible to the club. That Bible is now preserved in the library. The club is indebted to the many administrators and teachers who have supported us thoughout the years.

THE FRENCH NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY — Front Kim Hainsworth, Brigette Dubois Cari Wirks and Pam James Middle Jolene Harmon, Laura Whipp Ingrid Rodriguez Cheryl Kau Anja Hellwig and Yvette Proctor Back-Bruce Peak, Susan Spotts Alex Lee, Dunnaree Mullins and John Reinecke

The Society was made up of high school students nationwide who were involved in an Advanced Placement French program at their high schools. The AP French program at RUHS was headed by the famous and well-loved Madame Kathryn Tanny and fervently supported by her mother. Mrs. Birtrel Carbuit, who volunteered her house for the weekly AP meetings. Monsieur Rob Tanny, le mari de Mme, was also a very familiar figure to all involved in the advanced French program. Besides the weekly gatherings, the AP group went on a weekend trip to take Arrowhead January 12-13, and again on a weekend ski trip along with the third-year French class on February 23-24 Everyone involved in this accelerated program felt that it was indeed a worthwhile high school experience, as well as a fantastic opportunity to hopefully earn some extra credits towards college. BONNE CHANCE A CES ETUDIANTS, ET PASSEZ UNE TRES BONNE ÉTE!!! -RUHS Pilot.

Le Cercle Français

This purpose was carried out through French Club activities throughout the year. This year's activities included trips to Les Freres Taix, a French restaurant in Hollywood where French Club members went to enjoy French cuisine and speak seulement Français. Activities also included trips to the ice skating rink, the Halloween party, the Christmas party and carolling en Français, a few ski trips, the escargof race, the crepe and photo booths at the Red and White Carnival, and a few mountain retreats.

The traditional French Banquet was cancelled this year "because of a lot of personal problems. I couldn't put out the time required to produce a banquet," Madame Tanny said sadly

A new addition to French Club activity was the formation of the French newspaper, Qu'est Qu'll Se Passe?. The paper included articles on French club activities cartoons by the renowned artist David Lindsay, word finds, and even an advice column, "Cheres Francoises", done by Pam James and Ursula Wiljanen. The newspaper was written entirely in French

Although French Club has become the large and active club that it is through the support and dedication of its members, the 'Madame Motivator' is of course Madame Tanny, advisor of Le Cercle Francais. When asked why she continues to be the advisor of French Club year after year she replied 'It's very rewarding working with young people their enthusiasm and energy makes it worth it

Dear R U.H S .

To the class of '85 — the four years finally paid off. Good luck in the future at whatever you do. Heiga - My very good friend, 8 out of 9, not bad? May our friendship last forever. Good luck with Doug. Heather H. — Sorry for what happened. Hope next year is more enjoyabir for you Dawn - to the person who still likes me and the only one who won't admit it Good lack in the years to come Steven -"TEEBUCK" You're the only person that can put up with your sister better than anyone else Enjoy your stay at R.U.H.S. Ursula your smile brings warmth to those fortunate enough to know you on the coldest of days I'm so very glad I've had the chance to be one of those people. Good luck as Editor next year. Lucy -- 'The boss of this dump sits here' 'I bid you lots of tuck in the years to come Come back and see us sometime Anissa -Old men and Dug outs. Je t'aime beaucoup mon cherie. I hope that I will have you for a long time. Maybe in three years? And to all of my other friends at Redondo, I wish you all the luck in the years to come and that you will remember only the good times and over look the bad ones

CLASS OF '86 RULES, RJ Rudy) Metoyer

Patrons

Darlene Bohorquez — Tennis 1, 2, 3, 4; Basketball 1, 2, 3; MOM and DAD I finally made it. I love you both. I wanted to thank all my teachers and all my friends in Redondo. Best wishes to all. Class of "85" Rules.

Ana Magdaleno — MOM AND POP-I love ya! Hi 7th Street gang JJ - Through all the times, good and bad, you've been there and it s been rad. To my best friend 4, ever to be. Everything will work and then they'll see STEPHAN-Miss you!!! SELENE, Ya! 2 more years; HEY O.Z. too bad you're a senior, but I know we'll stay B/F/F. NONIE-thanx for the rides.

FRANK-Sorry things didn't work out . . HEY BIG GUYS! Love ya, ANA (BANANA) (OZ #2)
P.S. Hey bra's, what happened to a dime a day?

Jon Shears — Baseball 2, 3, varsity 4; New Life Club 3, Nightmare 2, 3, 4; A.P.F. Club president 2, 3, 4 — To my friends: Ron, Ray, Riule, Gary, Andres, Mike (D.G.G.), Murray and Carlos. You made my 4 years enjoyable. To the ladies who would talk to me: Mandy, Tina, Joanna, Tiffany and Rhonda. Thank you for your conversations. A special dedication goes to Robert and Kevin. You guys have been my best buddles for 3 yrs. Nightmare will succeed and we will make it to the top. Mr. Roy thank you for clearing some things up for me about America, the media and the Russians. The years went by fast for me and I've finally made it. Heavy Metal, Disneyland, Drummers, Phoenix Suns, A.S.U. and Nightmare rule!!!

Lisa Willoughby — To all my friends since Fulton Elementary and all my high school friends; the great times we've all had will never be forgotten, but there comes a time when we have to push our old rememberances aside and accept new ones. And I wish you all the best of luck. Angela, Elizabeth and Beth, it's been so much fun at RUHS, so let's keep up the good times. Andrea Walond keep up that silly attitude and those laughs. And for my Frank, you're one in a million and all my love is for you. Love you all, Lisa Willoughby

Hi Debbie,

So, you thought you were rid of me, huh? WRONG!! Here I am. Congratulations on finishing your sophomore year. Two more to go! Thanks for being such a great sister and friend. This year sure has been interesting, who knows, maybe someday you'll be a bag girl. Remember who loves ya. Good luck with tall flags and two more years of high school (It only gets funner, I know). DENISE: Hi little sis, no I didn't forget about you. I love ya too. Boy have we had some fun huh? Good luck in everything you do.

Love, Rachelle

Lisa, Angie, Elizabeth: thanks for being my friends.

Elizabeth — watch out for the birds next year. Joanle

— thanks for being such a good friend and for being there for me. It's a good thing you picked the wrong number in White's or we wouldn't be friends. Best of luck with Frank. Kathy (Sarah) — thanks for the times we've shared together. You're a great person, don't ever forget it! Kenny — my sweetheart, you have been for two years and will be the most important person in my life. I love you so much, and I love you forever.

Thanks, everybody! Beilh

Michele, We've really been through a lot together I'm so glad we're friends again. When we were in that fight we didn't realize how much we meant to each other Remember Fullon, we were little buddles. Then Hillcrest we were even better friends and now Redondo. Our treshman year was good, but our friendship wasn't. So hopefully our luture years will be better than last. Remember Refugio? Disneyland? Remember the snow with Tony? You're such a sweetle and I really Luv Yal Hopefully someday your P J. dream will come true We'll, i better go now. I just wanted to say THANKSII Glad we're triends. Love, Jennifer

You're a sweetle. Glad we became friends P E was fun Remember our Irlends at the gas station? Good luck next year. I/f

Tanya,

You're a sweetle. Take carel Good tuck as a Senior. f/f Jen Diana.

You're a sweet friend. Glad we're friends. See you later. I/I Jennifer Jim.

You're the best brother in the world, and I LOVE YOU. But I miss you! Don't Find an Ann. Love, Jenny Mom and Dod,

Thank you for everything, and I Love you. Love Always, Jennifer To my daddy F. & family It was fun.

To Jo Jo Hi, How are you?

This year was fun. The movies with Mike and the great hangout to find the guys with a tan. We ve been through a lot together Hopefully we can go through a lot more stay sweet: We re almost juniors?

MOM AND DAD AND HM. I LOVE YOU GUYS A LOT AND THAMES!

You're really sweet. Ht Dad
I Love You! Jo-Jo

We we been through so much these past four years, and you have been a great friend. We have a lot of great memories to look back on, like for instance, all those long talks in Caris &r. being late to Cox & class every day 321 one of our memories I would rather forget. M MT with Mike

George, March 1 lime to go to the beach, James is gone JAMES. I love you very much. Why the AIR FORCE? Oh, well, maybe t'il see you soon. You have given me a lot of great times. Camping was fun, and I'll never forget that weskend—the best one of my life Jay you were such a good friend to me and still are; I am so glad Sunce introduced us. Always keep in touch You'll always be an IMPORTANT FRIEND GREG, yes, your repoles are way too big. You finally had a girffriend this year. After all those girls chasing you, you finally decided on I'm very happy for you. I'm glad we were good friends for so long

SCOTT, I miss walking to school with you and our long talks

PAUL AND KENNY you two are crazy. Stay funny and don't lose touch with me. Paula, synchro's been great; I'm gonna miss II. Sunce, god what can I say to a person who I've known for so long (since 5th grade—8 years). You we been like a sister to me, and I really mean it too. Sometimes we even fight like sisters. It's a fol harder, though When you is a sister you have to a ways be in the name house with her efter you ve fought. N OUR CASE WE just ran away from the problems and took a fong time to make up. And I know we ve definitely had our share of ups and downs. I think no matter what happens, we'll always end up friends. No matter what happens, don't forget me. MHS SEPP, you've given me a lot of support these past 6 years. Thank you, you're one in a million DEWITZ, thanks for trying to keep high Tide together CHRISTIE, I'll never forget all me, you Marces. Sunse, (and sometimes Tine) went through it got a little rough at the end, but I think we all knew it would work in the end. Thenks, More and Dad, Robin, Alan, and Brett, Thank you class of 65 for giving me 4 great years. Hi, Todd

MELANIE

Thank you for always understanding me. I know that it was hard sometimes. Good luck with everything We'll always be friends. Don't forget that next year we're going to cong Bosco. Knop in touch with me. If you ever need me you know I'll be there. Thank for at the fund mes. Mike George (Did I tell you that he was on TVT), litagic Mountain, Knotts, Mickey Mousetand. I'll never ever forget my first party. Poor Mel. I'm sorry that you didn't feet very well. He more B-Day cake lights

Let's stick together TO MY SISTER WENDY

Thanks for he ping me through some rough moments. I never thought that we would ever get along. See how drantically things can change, I wouldn't have made it through this year without

Hi. Bonehand! We re up to our old tricks again. Sometimes I think we re too crary for our own good. The snow was a lot of lun; it's too bad we didn't get to go up the mountain. PLEASEI no more Whoppers or Big Macs. We ve had too much fun DANA AND RUSS

I hope that you two stay together a very long time. Try and talk Dana out of getting extra online on everything. Both of you take care. I'll miss you next year. SPECIAL THANKS TO

My mom. Mike Colee, Brenden Dewitt, Dino, Aric. Ricky Dickert, and Christie Johnson. I'll miss

It's been another death delying year for Paul Bishop. Some of my earth-shattering experiences include my brilliant football career which was tragically cut short by a leg injury. After coming off of my brutal injury, I came back in stride by dominating the wrestling world. I cooled down my hot athletic career to take part more fully in yearbook. I have finally found out, at this late date, that this was a bad career move on my part. This summer I am going on a quest for the "SECRETS" that lay abroad. But before I go, I would like to send my regards to the following people. My mother, for her support and professional guidance. Lucy, I know the book couldn't have survived without me. Goodluck in college. Rudy, "Wun you wascle wabbit, Wun!!" Stone, Don't work too hard in football camp, see you next fall. Chris (Naeem), be careful at those wild parties and keep up in football and baseball. Ursula, I would just like to inform you that I find "IRRESISTABLE!!"

Well, until next fall, when I return with the "Lost Ark of Spanish Knowledge," Everybody had a good summer!!!!!

Thanks mom for everything and for just being my mom, I LOVE YOU. Carol, Hey dude we made it. I loved being partners in dance, we made a good team. Keep on dancing babe. Love Marla, Alisa, you're a great friend a perfect person to talk to. Keep In touch babe, love ya. Carolyn, your a good person, your gonna make it in life. David's great too. Hold on to him. Love ya babe, Maria. Bill, you're the best thing that came into my life, I may not show it sometimes, but I really mean it. I LOVE YOU, Maria.

 EMPTY CAMPUS—Unannounced tardy sweeps made sure we got to class on time.

2. MULTI-COLORED WALL
—Linda Lemke, Erin
Brown and Lisa Motoyama, seniors, take time out of their busy schedules to study along the colorful walls.

 IN HIS OFFICE—Gerald Davis took over as principal at the semester, the third principal in three years.

4. WELCOME TO RE-DONDO—WASC members returned to evaluate RUHS

5. GATEWAY TO THE PARK—This area was dedicated during the summer

Changes Shape Up Appearance

As the year passed, we saw more changes occur at Redondo than in previous years.

A campus beautification program was put into effect. Red and white azaleas were planted all over the campus. The walls of buildings were painted with two or three colors. On Arbor Day, a New Zealand Fir with red and white blooms was planted. Also, guards stood in front of the bathrooms in main hall to discourage vandalism.

Both tardy and truancy sweeps were reinacted, cutting down on tardles and truancies. These both kept us in class and off the streets.

This was the year that WASC (Western Association of Schools and Colleges) returned. The seven-member committee evaluated Redondo and recommended which areas should be improved.

Escrow closed on Aviation. Everything but the gyms, pool, and the auditorium were sold and torn down. Because proposition BB passed in November, not all of the land could be sold

Even though the amount was greatly reduced, the district finally received the much-needed revenue from the sale. Part of this money was used to give the faculty a raise. A 5 :% increase was retroactive to July 1, 1984. The remaining 11 12% would be in effect July 1, 1985. Because of the increase, the faculty discontinued the "slowdown" and continued giving us a worthwhile education.

1. GOTTA HAVE HART—
Gary Hart appealed to the younger, more conservative Democrats, also known as "yuppies" (Photos 1, 3, and 4 courtesy of Daily Breeze.)

 FIGHTING FAMINE— Jerry Goddard; Mike Dillon, ASB president; and organizer Karen Staar hold a check for over $1,000 to help those in Ehtlopia.

3. FOUR MORE YEARS— Ronald Reagan won every state except for Minnesota and Washington, D.C. on the way to his second term

4. THERE'S THE BEEF— Walter Mondale challenged Reagan to two debates, using the famous quote.

5. OLYMPIC-SIZED MURAL
—This mural was painted for the Olympic torch relay

84-85-FULL OF SURPRISES

An election year is always memorable. and this year was no exception, President Ronald Reagan ran again for Republicans. Democrats. however, had a historic variety to choose from. Jessie Jackson became the first black man to run under a major party. Gary Hart was the most conservative of the democratic nominees. He had a younger following, introducing the term "yuppies." Walter Mondale chose Geraldine Ferraro as his vice presidential candidate. This was the first time a woman had been chosen as a candidate under a major party.

Reagan got "four more years," winning every state but Minnesota and Washington, D.C.

William Schroeder became the second man to have an artificial heart. Doctors continued experimenting with hearts. A baboon heart was placed in Baby Fae. Protesters argued it wasn't moral.

Well, Redondo, here it is. You are now looking at the 1985 Pilot — a product of diverse staff members, different advisers, varying opinions, long hours and yes, even late deadlines.

There were times when I thought you would first see this in September. However, with the help of an allout effort of this staff, our representative Steve Wagner and advisers Susan DeWitz and Margaret Lee, we lucked out.

Nobody said it would be easy, and believe me, it wasn't. Having four advisers in three years didn't make things easier.

I'll admit, the theme might not be relevant to the school year at first, but think about it. First of all, we seniors are going away. We're the last to have known what it was like when Sea Hawks were Sea Hawks, Mustangs were Mustangs, and Falcons were Falcons.

I'm sure you can think of more ways this theme relates to your own experiences. Besides, it was a good visual theme. (Right, Tonya?)

Thanks to those on staff who stuck it through and worked hard. No one was limited to what they could do. Photographers learned all about layouts and copy, and staff members learned all about taking and printing pictures. Also, thanks to those not on staff who helped us out.

If I had it to do again, I probably wouldn't, but it's over. All I can do now is remember the times in Room 110, where my hopes for a perfect Pilot flew up, up, and away. "Hail to thee," Redondo, "Alma Mater, true!"
